FBI AGENTS RAID JOCKEY CLUB

U.S. Navy Plane Spots Hijacked Ship Off Brazil

Caracas, Venezuela (AP)—A U. S. Navy search plane found the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui steering a course down the coast of South America today, possibly headed for a haven in Brazil.

A Navy P2V reported to Washington it sighted the ship at daybreak about 180 miles north of Surinam Dutch Guiana and headed south - southeasterly at 12 knots.

A source at Brizilian navy headquarters in Rio de Janeiro said the ship's present position and course indicate it might be headed for the northern Brazilian port of Belem at the mouth of the Amazon River. Another possibility was the northeast Brazilian port of Recife.

A high Brazilian government source indicated the hijackers would be granted political asylum. He said the right of political asylum is a Brazilian tradition "which I do not believe will now be changed."

The terrorists, who seized the ship Tuesday, apparently gave up any chance of trying to sail through a U. S. and Venezuelan picket of ships and planes guarding the approach to Cuba. Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government had offered the nine Communist gunmen asylum if the ship could reach Cuba.

Just about two years ago, Portuguese Capt. Henrique Galvao was granted haven in Brazil after seizing the Portuguese luxury liner Santa Maria with about 950 passengers and crew. Galvo hoped his act would dramatize his opposition to Portugal's strongman Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

The Venezuelan Communists, members of the Armed Forces for National Liberation FALN, announced their purpose is seizing the Anzoategui on its trip to the United States has to bring their cause against President Romulo Betancourt to the attention of the world.

When seized, the government shipping company, owners of the Anzoategui, said she had enough fuel for a 15-day journey. It said her top speed was 15 knots.

The Anzoategui sailed out of La Guaira, the port of Caracas, last Tuesday with a skipper and his crew of 35. The Venezuelan government said some members of the crew hid the terrorists aboard until the ship was out of Venezuelan waters. Then the gunmen took over the ship and placed other members of the crew under arrest. The FALN terrorists have messaged that the crew is well.

The FALN has declared war on Betancourt, a close friend of the United States, and hopes to force him to cancel his trip to visit President Kennedy in Washington next week. He is scheduled to leave Monday.

FALN terrorists kept up their activity at home.

Communists were blamed for a blast that destroyed a 30-inch pipeline in Northeast Venezuela.

Gunmen wearing Communist armbands held up a government cashier and escaped with an estimated $20,000 in Cagua, an agricultural center about 80 miles west of Caracas.

The terrorism was described by government officials as a Communist drive to embarrass Betancourt's pro-American regime and discourage his trip to the United States, scheduled to start Monday.

Red Hijackers Snub U.S. Plane's Signals

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Navy plane today found the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui but the ship refused to answer any signals from the plane, the Defense Department said.

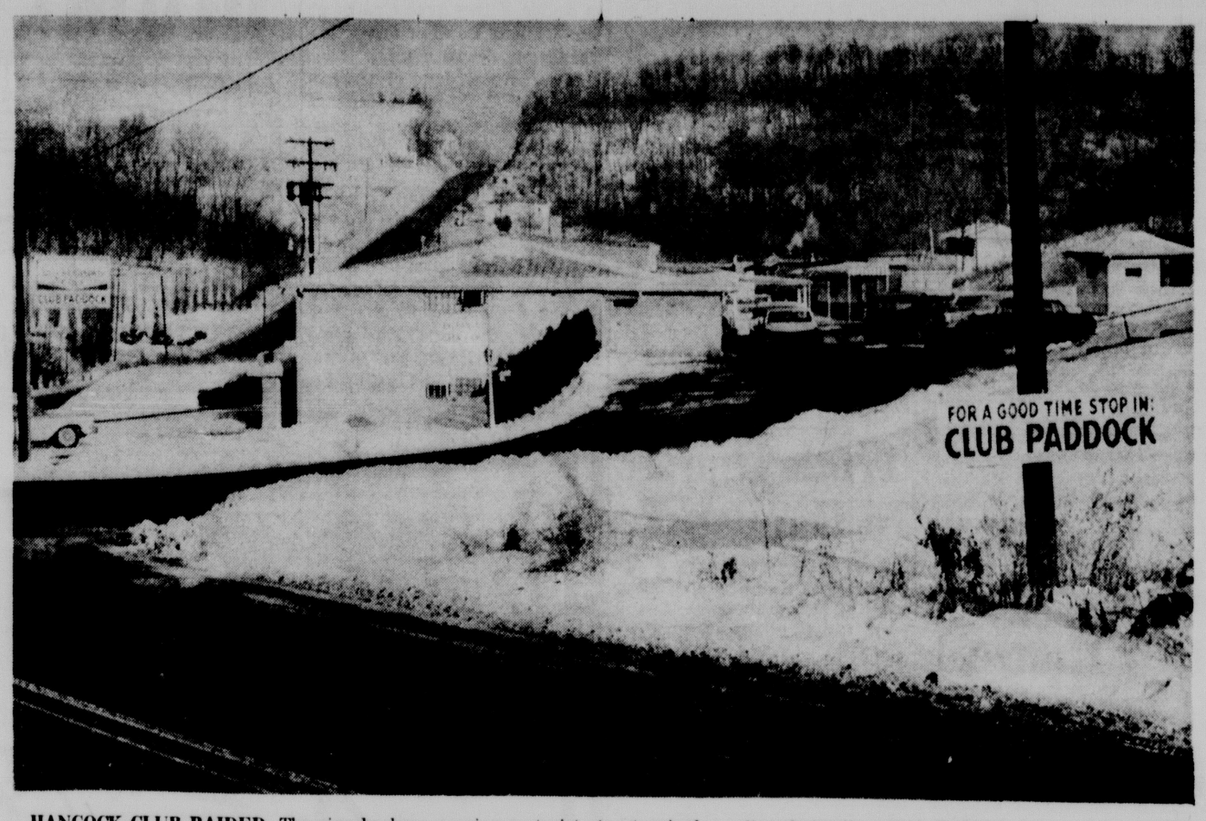

The freighter was located at 6 a.m. EST today 180 miles north of Surinam (Dutch Guiana), apparently headed for Brazil.

The plane was continuing to circle the ship, the Defense Department said.

A Pentagon spokesman said the Navy plane reported she was 'maintaining air surveillance, although it had not been able to establish communication contact."

Earlier, the Navy said the plane was attempting to communicate with the freighter through use of visual blinker signal and radio.

At the time of the sighting the vessel was reported traveling in a south southeasterly direction, on a course of 150 degrees, at a speed of 12 knots.

HANCOCK CLUB RAIDED. The sign beckons passing motorists to stop in for a "good time" at Club Paddock and a squad of FBI agents reciprocated early today by pulling a surprise raid and arresting 11 men on charges of traveling interstate to operate a gambling casino. The agents seized gambling equipment plus a large amount of cash and pledged jewelry, presumably the bounty for blackjack and crap games. Club Paddock, also housing the Jockey Club where the equipment was seized, lies along Route 30 east of Chester, a half-mile west of the Pennsylvania state line.

11 Men Nabbed With Big Haul Of Gaming Devices

A squad of FBI agents raided the plush Jockey Club in the upstairs of Club Paddock on Route 30 east of Chester early today and arrested 11 men on charges of traveling interstate to operate a gambling casino.

The raiders, led personally by William M. Alexander, the FBI's special agent in Pittsburgh, seized slot machines, roulette wheels, dice tables, a blackjack table, and a large amount of cash and pledged jewelry.

With an agent planted inside the club beforehand, the agents struck at 12:20 a. m. and forced their way inside the large, white brick building by smashing down a door.

There were some 75 patrons inside and the FBI said most were from Western Pennsylvania, the others from Ohio and West Virginia.

Arrested on charges of violating the federal statute enacted Sept. 14, 1961, prohibiting taveling interstate to operate a gambling casino, were:

Joseph Pecora, 43, Abe Silverhart, 56, Dominic A. Bieno, 66, and Louis Anzelone, 25, all of Pittsburgh; Sidney Bahm, 54, of McKeesport; Peter Short, 57, of White Oak Borough, Pittsburgh, Joseph Rizzo, 54, of Glassport, Domenick Caputo, 58, of Hollywood, Fla., and Youngstown, Michael Simmera, 40, and Joseph Tamburro, 50, both of Steubenville, and another identified only as Alex Zryni.

In addition, the FBI in Pittsburgh also reported that agents from Miami have arrested Charles F. Teemer, 62, of Hollywood, Fla., and Chester on the same charges.

Teemer, linked with the nightspot that lies a short distance west of the Pennsylvania state line in Hancock County, was picked up in Hollywood, Fla.

The FBI said the 11 arrested in the early-morning raid are to be arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Nell Moran in Wheeling.

Commissioner Moran was not available for comment this morning on arraignments for the defendants, but a constable in her office said she had "been up most of the night" apparently to work on the cases.

Detention Not Disclosed

It was not learned immediately if the defendants posted bond for their release, but a check this morning revealed none was being held in custody in Ohio County Jail in Wheeling or at the Hancock County Jail in New Cumberland.

But there were about a dozen autos parked in the large lot of the Club Paddock this morning, apparently owned by those arrested in the raids.

The FBI in Pittsburgh said the gambling equipment was hauled away and is to be used as evidence against the alleged gambling fraternity nabbed in the raid.

Agents Used 'Force'

A spokesman at the Pittsburgh office declined to say exactly how many agents participated in the raid, only that a "number of agents" were present. They had to use force to enter the establishment, he added.

The FBI said the surprise raid culminated months of investigation.

The raiding party acted alone, without support from the Hancock County sheriff's office.

There was also a report that some 40 employes of the club had been subpoenaed to appear before a Federal Grand Jury in Wheeling Monday.

Passerby Sees Raid

A passing motorist said he spotted a red flasher light on a car along Route 30 at the club this morning between 12:30 and 12:45 and slowed to see what was happening.

There were several plainclothesmen standing around wearing white arm bands, he commented. One was carrying a shotgun.

Halting later at a restaurant, he said he was talking to a couple who was inside the club at the time of the raid. They remarked that the FBI had an agent planted inside and he was seated near them. They said they recognized the agent later when he joined the other raiders.

Agents' Cars Unmarked

All of the cars used to carry the agents to the club were unmarked.

The FBI action followed a raid Dec. 2 on the Rio Club behind the Cactus Bar in which three Hancock County constables confiscated and later burned a large supply of gambling equipment and whisky.

Africans Quit Red Bulgaria In Race Issue

Cite Discrimination In Experiment On Youth Education

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Backfiring of Communist Bulgaria's experiment in the education of African youths took on proportions of an explosion today.

Six Ethiopian students fled Sofia, as 20 Ghanaians did Friday. Britain announced its legation in Sofia is helping in arrangements for a group of Nigerian students to leave.

Hundreds of ohter young Africans, disenchanted by their treatment in the Red Balkan nation, were reported deterred only by lack of funds from joining the exodus.

Robert Kotey, 25, one of the 20 Ghanaians who flew to Amsterdam, Netherlands, said, "We declare categorically that the Bulgarian regime is guilty of racial discrimination.

"If the others haven't left yet, then they have been unable to do so. Only we Ghanaians have a mission in Sofia, whereas the others have to try to reach their missions in other East bloc countries. This takes time and effort."

The Ethiopians flew to Belgrade, Yugoslavia, and consulted with the Ethiopian ambassador, Petras Sahlon.

Sahlon said one other Ethiopian student was among seven Africans arrested by Bulgarian police Monday as leaders of an organization the Bulgarian Communists had banned, the All-African Students Union. He said he did not know the prisoners' whereabouts.

Some students were beaten by Bulgarian police and militiamen when the students staged a parade Tuesday protesting the arrests.

Outbreak In Ohio

Influenza Wave Hitting Midwest

CHICAGO (AP)—A wave of influenza which has closed schools and brought high job absenteeism in several Eastern Seaboard states since mid-January is pushing into the Midwest.

Asian type flu, similar to that which swept the nation in 1957-58 and again in 1960, has been confirmed in several states, including Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Kansas.

Outbreaks of less severe types of influenza have been widespread. The first confirmed cases this winter were reported last month in Robeson County, North Carolina. The state reported 65,994 new cases last week.

The Communicable Disease Center of the U.S. Public Health Service in Atlanta reported Friday that pneumonia-influenza deaths have been above the epidemic level the past five weeks.

The report, based on figures from 108 cities, showed a sharp upswing in deaths in the week ending Feb. 8.

In Ohio the Cincinnati Health Department said absenteeism among the city's 82,000 public school students jumped to 23 per cent Friday from 15 per cent the day before. Three deaths were blamed on flu, which the department said was caused by an Asian type virus.

There were two confirmed Asian flu cases among students at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. Wayne County officials reported growing job absenteeism in the Detroit area.

Reports of influenza-like illness in Kentucky, West Virginia and Missouri also indicated a westerly spread of the disease. Hospitals in St. Louis reported admissions had doubled because of a flu outbreak.

An Asian flu outbreak among recruits at Great Lakes Naval Training Center reached a peak earlier this week. It was described as much less severe than a 1957 epidemic.

Health officials in Tennessee say influenza cases have tripled in Memphis since last week. About 500 cases had been reported by Friday, and officials said there probably were other cases not reported.

In Chicago, about 35 miles south of Great Lakes, Health Commissioner Samuel L. Andelman said absenteeism in schools and major industries is lower than in 1962. He said the city stands a good chance of escaping the flu wave.

Health officials in Washington, D.C., said absenteeism in the District is running high among federal workers where the flu seige is expected to last into March. Flu-type illness also was widespread in nearby Maryland and Virginia.

Planner Aid, New Gas Rate Face Council

Appropriation Also To Include $10,00 For Insurance Plan

Legislation providing $7,500 as the city's share of the cost of preparing a master plan and accepting a new four-year rate agreement with the Ohio Valley Gas Co. will be presented to Council Monday night.

Council also will act on an appropriation of approximately $10,000 to provide hospital and life insurance for most city employes.

The master plan fund is part of an omnibus appropriation measure that also includes provision for financing the insurance plan for employes.

The same appropriation will allow $5,100 for purchase of a new air compressor for the water department and $2,200 for a new fence and other improvements at the Little League baseball field at Thompson Park.

Council agreed tentatively at its meeting Feb. 4 to provide $10,000 as the city's share of the cost of a master plan—a detailed program worked out by a professional engineering concern to guide the city's future growth and development.

However, the figure was scaled down to $7,500 when the Council finance committee gave data to Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper for use in preparing the ordinance. Most members indicated support of the master plan fund at the meeting, Feb. 4 but Councilman Frank Duffy made remarks that tend to show he will dissent.

The city's appropriation would be sufficient to finance a $22,500 expenditure for a master plan, as the federal government would provide 66 per cent of the cost to the city's 33 per cent.

The gas rate proposal, explained to Council Feb. 4, was settled in an agreement reached the following day between the soliciter and Walter Betsch of Columbus, president of Ohio Valley Gas.

Retaining the present $2.65 monthly minimum charge, it provides a rate boost averaging out to 5 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for the next four years Prior to the agreement, the company had sought state authority for a boost of over 18 per cent.

The raise for which the company settled amounts to 5.6 per cent.

The settlement climaxed negotiations over local rates dating back to July 1961.

With Dramatic Results

U.S. Medics Fought Polio In Anti-Yankee Guiana

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just before Christmas, the terror of a polio epidemic struck British Guiana. Its anti-Yankee government called for help, and got it from the United States.

The Air Force rushed in doctors from the U.S. Public Health Service and Baylor University, plus 200,000 doses of vaccine, iron lungs and other equipment.

As specialists from Baylor treated the victims, the Health Service's team of four medics set to work to stop the epidemic by immunizing 100,000 children in the South American colony of 600,000 persons.

Within a month, there were dramatic results.

Dr. Henry M. Gelfand, head of the Health Service team, reports that hospital admissions hit a peak of 83 new cases in the week ended Jan. 5. But last week only nine new cases were reported.

Today the mission is almost completed. The Health Service team has returned to its base at the Atlanta, Ga., Communicable Disease Center. Three members of the Baylor group are due home today. Two others are staying behind.

American officials believe the group scored a double success—not only stamping out the epidemic but also cauterizing the anti-American sentiments of Guiana's left-leaning premier, Cheddi Jagan.

The U.S. Agency for International Development which sponsored the mercy mission figures its costs to the taxpayers will run between $40,000 and $50,000. Baylor donated its help, thus keeping down the cost.

The gain to Uncle Sam's image can be guessed from some of the newspaper comment in Guiana.

One newspaper voiced gratitude for the aid given "in spite of all the abuse poured on the United States by our premier . . . Thank you—Mr. Kennedy! What a government.

Rogers Crash Injures 3 From Steubenville

Three Steubenville men were injured when their car wrecked Friday at 8:45 p.m. on Route 7 five and a half miles south of Rogers.

The Lisbon State Highway Patrol said Howard S. Broadus, 46, the driver, lost control of his car on a curve. He left the highway, struck three reflector posts and then rolled over.

Broadus, who was cited for speeding, suffered abrasions of the forehead and contusions of the left hand.

Two passengers also were hurt. Robert H. Vincent, 38, suffered bruises of the body and Robert H. Douglass, 34, suffered a laceration of the right hand.

Tax Collection Opens

LISBON — Collection of personal taxes began Friday and will continue to April 30, closing date. Approximately 35 persons appeared the first day to pay the taxes, auditor Kenneth Bell said.

4 Below Here, -13 In County

Cold To Moderate; Snow Due Sunday

East Liverpool's collective teeth clicked like castinets this morning as residents shivered in 4-below zero temperatures from another severe cold wave. "About zero" had been forecast.

Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observor at Millport, had an official low of 13 below for the night. It wasn't the coldest mark of winter — it only felt that way —as hoarfrost covered the Tri-State District with a sparkling blanket.

The downtown had 6 below Jan. 24 and 13 below Jan. 28. Copeland's low temperature marks for the corresponding dates were 19 and 23 below.

But relief is due from the Arctic cold with temperatures expected to moderate slowly through Sunday. Today's high range will be 18 to 24 and tonight's low only 7 to 14 above.

Links Soviet With Red China

Khrushchev Wheels Back To Old Diplomatic Style

By STANLEY JOHNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has wheeled back into his old favorite form of diplomacy, pushing the party line at cocktail parties.

When at a diplomatic reception Friday night he demonstratively linked Communist China with the Soviet Union as the gravedigger of capitalism, the Kremlin chief stirred memories of the days when he was the rollicking, hard-drinking star of almost every major party in Moscow.

That was when the now usually dignified Soviet leader didn't have an inhibition in the world—it did not even bother him when he had to be carried out of a reception given for the visiting Danish premier.

Nor did he worry overly much about what he said.

He commented on everything from French morals (too many prostitutes) to capitalism (we will bury you).

And the best thing for harried reporters, then working under strict censorship, was that there was no censorship on anything Khrushchev said. That changed as the premier became more staid, and nothing moved out of Moscow until he had okayed it.

Diplomats had lots of speculation on why Khrushchev slowed down from being the life of the party.

One was that he and his colleagues began to worry about Western publicity concerning his drinking; another that his doctors had warned him to cut way down.

Also, when the sputniks began orbiting in 1957 Khrushchev seemed to develop a new awareness of his dignity and that of his country.

He made his sensational social debut in November 1954 at a National Day reception in the Yugoslav Embassy. Georgi Malenkov was premier then, but Khrushchev was the star of the evening.

Both men made straight for the Western press, who were flabbergasted at this first opportunity in history to link arms, sing songs and drink chuggalug with the rulers of Russia.

Three East Germans' Freedom Bid Foiled

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP)—A desperate freedom bid by three young East Germans failed today when the car they tried to crash-drive into West German was shot by Communist border guards and burst into flames.

The three men, one apparently wounded, were dragged out of the blazing car and taken away by East German guards.

Sites For Post Office Found Unsatisfactory

No satisfactory site for erection of a new Post Office has been located in Wellsville. Two representatives from the regional office at Cincinnati spent two days in Wellsville this week searching for a suitable location but were unable to locate property with enough square footage or in the proper price range.

Making the survey were William Rahter, assistant to the regional director, and William Boers, a real estate agent for the Postal Department. Various locations were investigated.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays announced at Washington over a week ago that the U.S. Postal Department has cleared primary plans for construction of a new building and the department was to select the site. The sites considered were not indicated.

Reports of influenza-like illness in Kentucky, West Virginia and Missouri also indicated a westerly spread of the disease. Hospitals in St. Louis reported admissions had doubled because of a flu outbreak.

An Asian flu outbreak among recruits at Great Lakes Naval Training Center reached a peak earlier this week. It was described as much less severe than a 1957 epidemic.

Health officials in Tennessee say influenza cases have tripled in Memphis since last week. About 500 cases had been reported by Friday, and officials said there probably were other cases not reported.

In Chicago, about 35 miles south of Great Lakes, Health Commissioner Samuel L. Andelman said absenteeism in schools and major industries is lower than in 1962. He said the city stands a good chance of escaping the flu wave.

Health officials in Washington, D.C., said absenteeism in the District is running high among federal workers where the flu seige is expected to last into March. Flu-type illness also was widespread in nearby Maryland and Virginia.

Planner Aid, New Gas Rate Face Council

Appropriation Also To Include $10,00 For Insurance Plan

Legislation providing $7,500 as the city's share of the cost of preparing a master plan and accepting a new four-year rate agreement with the Ohio Valley Gas Co. will be presented to Council Monday night.

Council also will act on an appropriation of approximately $10,000 to provide hospital and life insurance for most city employes.

The master plan fund is part of an omnibus appropriation measure that also includes provision for financing the insurance plan for employes.

The same appropriation will allow $5,100 for purchase of a new air compressor for the water department and $2,200 for a new fence and other improvements at the Little League baseball field at Thompson Park.

Council agreed tentatively at its meeting Feb. 4 to provide $10,000 as the city's share of the cost of a master plan—a detailed program worked out by a professional engineering concern to gude the city's future growth and development.

However, the figure was scaled down to $7,500 when the Council finance committee gave data to Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper for use in preparing the ordinance.

Most members indicated support of the master plan fund at the meeting, Feb. 4 but Councilman Frank Duffy made remarks that tend to show he will dissent.

The city's appropriation would be sufficient to finance a $22,500 expenditure for a master plan, as the federal government would provide 66 per cent of the cost to the city's 33 per cent.

The gas rate proposal, explained to Council Feb. 4, was settled in an agreement reached the following day between the soliciter and Walter Betsch of Columbus, president of Ohio Valley Gas.

Retaining the present $2.65 monthly minimum charge, it provides a rate boost averaging out to 5 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for the next four years. Prior to the agreement, the company had sought state authority for a boost of over 18 per cent.

The raise for which the company settled amounts to 5.6 per cent.

Three East Germans' Freedom Bid Foiled

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP)—A desperate freedom bid by three young East Germans failed today when the car they tried to crash-drive into West German was shot by Communist border guards and burst into flames.

The three men, one apparently wounded, were dragged out of the blazing car and taken away by East German guards.

With Dramatic Results

U.S. Medics Fought Polio In Anti-Yankee Guiana

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just before Christmas, the terror of a polio epidemic struck British Guiana. Its anti-Yankee government called for help, and got it from the United States.

The Air Force rushed in doctors from the U.S. Public Health Service and Baylor University, plus 200,000 doses of vaccine, iron lungs and other equipment.

As specialists from Baylor treated the victims, the Health Service's team of four medics set to work to stop the epidemic by immunizing 100,000 children in the South American colony of 600,000 persons.

Within a month, there were dramatic results.

Dr. Henry M. Gelfand, head of the Health Service team, reports that hospital admissions hit a peak of 83 new cases in the week ended Jan. 5. But last week only nine new cases were reported.

Today the mission is almost completed. The Health Service team has returned to its base at the Atlanta, Ga., Communicable Disease Center. Three members of the Baylor group are due home today. Two others are staying behind.

American officials believe the group scored a double success—not only stamping out the epidemic but also cauterizing the anti-American sentiments of Guiana's left-leaning premier, Cheddi Jagan.

The U.S. Agency for International Development which sponsored the mercy mission figures its costs to the taxpayers will run between $40,000 and $50,000. Baylor donated its help, thus keeping down the cost.

The gain to Uncle Sam's image can be guessed from some of the newspaper comment in Guiana.

One newspaper voiced gratitude for the aid given "in spite of all the abuse poured on the United States by our premier . . . Thank you—Mr. Kennedy! What a government.

Cold To Moderate; Snow Due Sunday

East Liverpool's collective teeth clicked like castinets this morning as residents shivered in 4-below zero temperatures from another severe cold wave. "About zero" had been forecast.

Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observor at Millport, had an official low of 13 below for the night. It wasn't the coldest mark of winter — it only felt that way —as hoarfrost covered the Tri-State District with a sparkling blanket.

The downtown had 6 below Jan. 24 and 13 below Jan. 28. Copeland's low temperature marks for the corresponding dates were 19 and 23 below.

But relief is due from the Arctic cold with temperatures expected to moderate slowly through Sunday. Today's high range will be 18 to 24 and tonight's low only 7 to 14 above.

2 City Firemen Named In Department Vacancies

Two new city firemen were sworn in this morning after being selected by Safety - Service Director Robert Owen to fill vacancies on the department.

James H. Allmon, 322 E. 3rd St., and Larry A. Tullis of 9 Valley Trailer Court received the oath of office from Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff in his chambers in a brief ceremony witnessed by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Owen, Chief Charles Bryan and Councilman Floyd Murray.

The two appointments fill the vacancies created by the retirement of Sheridan G. Pollock and Walter (Dutch) Foustel.

Allmon and Tullis, both family men, ranked third and fourth, respectively, in a test conducted Jan. 30 by the Civil Service Commission. The names of the two men along with Richard Enochs, 938 Lisbon St., and William T. Kerr, 2023 St. Clair Ave., were turned over to the director by the commission.

Both men started their duties at Central Station this morning and will remain on daylight work next week, working with all three crews to become acquainted with other personnel and equipment, Chief Bryan said.

One will be assigned to Asst. Chief James Pelley's crew and the other will go on the crew headed by Asst. Chief Dave Anderson, he added.

Allmon, 27, is married and the father of a daughter, who will be 3 in March, and a 16-month-old son.

He served two years in the Army and has been employed as a warehouse laborer at the Harker Pottery Co.

A native of East Liverpool, he is a member of the Anderson Methodist Church in Calcutta and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 66.

Tullis, 23, also is married and is a native of East Liverpool. He has been employed at Thorofare Market after serving four years in the Air Force. He is a member of the Elks Lodge and Boyce Methodist Church.

Links Soviet With Red China

Khrushchev Wheels Back To Old Diplomatic Style

By STANLEY JOHNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has wheeled back into his old favorite form of diplomacy, pushing the party line at cocktail parties.

When at a diplomatic reception Friday night he demonstratively linked Communist China with the Soviet Union as the gravedigger of capitalism, the Kremlin chief stirred memories of the days when he was the rollicking, hard-drinking star of almost every major party in Moscow.

That was when the now usually dignified Soviet leader didn't have an inhibition in the world—it did not even bother him when he had to be carried out of a reception given for the visiting Danish premier.

Nor did he worry overly much about what he said.

He commented on everything from French morals (too many prostitutes) to capitalism (we will bury you).

And the best thing for harried reporters, then working under strict censorship, was that there was no censorship on anything Khrushchev said. That changed as the premier became more staid, and nothing moved out of Moscow until he had okayed it.

Diplomats had lots of speculation on why Khrushchev slowed down from being the life of the party.

One was that he and his colleagues began to worry about Western publicity concerning his drinking; another that his doctors had warned him to cut way down.

Also, when the sputniks began orbiting in 1957 Khrushchev seemed to develop a new awareness of his dignity and that of his country.

He made his sensational social debut in November 1954 at a National Day reception in the Yugoslav Embassy. Georgi Malenkov was premier then, but Khrushchev was the star of the evening.

Both men made straight for the Western press, who were flabbergasted at this first opportunity in history to link arms, sing songs and drink chuggalug with the rulers of Russia.

Sites For Post Office Found Unsatisfactory

No satisfactory site for erection of a new Post Office has been located in Wellsville. Two representatives from the regional office at Cincinnati spent two days in Wellsville this week searching for a suitable location but were unable to locate property with enough square footage or in the proper price range.

Making the survey were William Rahter, assistant to the regional director, and William Boers, a real estate agent for the Postal Department. Various locations were investigated.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays announced at Washington over a week ago that the U.S. Postal Department has cleared primary plans for construction of a new building and the department was to select the site. The sites considered were not indicated.

Judge Sharp declared Harris an habitual violator and since East Liverpool Municipal Court took his license on Jan. 10, the judge continued the suspension until Feb. 15, 1964.

4 Of Hancock Funds Voided

Hancock County commissioners Friday rejected operating budgets for the new fiscal year submitted for approval by heads of four Courthouse departments in New Cumberland.

In a 2-1 vote, commissioners agreed that they will not make any allowances to the sheriff's office, circuit court clerk's office, county clerk's office or assessor's office until it is learned the amount of revenue that will be available through taxes.

Resolutions announcing the rejection of the budget of each department are to be distributed in the Courthouse.

Each department head submitted his budget Feb. 1 and commissioners were to approve or reject the figures by Friday.

They have until March 28 to complete the county's operating budget for fiscal 1963-64, starting July 1.

Voting to reject the department budgets were Commisiioners William C. Graham and Robert E. Roach, while Commissioner James Finley dissented.

Graham explained that commissioners cannot consider the fiscal budgets for each department until the assessor's office turns over the final figures on revenue that will be available through taxes.

When the final figures are received, commissioners will then consider the fiscal budgets for each department, if they contain itemized statements on the amount to be expended by each employe and the manner in which it is to be expended.

New Round Set In Fight Over Holiday Working

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With the Washington's birthday anniversary less than a week off, it appears that another round is about to be fought in the battle over February holidays for state employes.

Atty. Gen. William Saxbe says he'll appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court from rulings by Franklin County Common Pleas Court and the 10th District Court of Appeals in Columbus. Both said state workers are entitled to Lincoln's (Feb. 12) and Washington's (Feb. 22) birthdays as holidays.

Gov. James A. Rhodes has sought to require work on both days, contending it is necessary as an economy measure. When the courts ruled against denying the holidays, Rhodes called for state employes to work voluntarily without extra pay or compensating time off.

Rhodes says there was a 95 per cent turnout last Tuesday, and has renewed his request for voluntary work next Friday. But some state employes say privately that they worked because they felt they might lose their jobs.

Trials Due 2 In Hancock

Trial dates were set by Judge James G. McClure Friday afternoon in Hancock County Circuit Court in New Cumberland for two defendants indicted by the January Grand Jury on charges of robbery in Weirton.

Judge McClure also sentenced a Cincinnati resident to 1-10 years in prison on a charge of auto theft.

Pleading innocent at their arraignment on charges of robbery of $3,500 from a Weirton man Sept. 26 were Paul William Bates, 53, of Massillon and Michael Pekch, 48, of Weirton.

Judge McClure set trial April 3 for Pekech and April 4 for Bates. They are accused of robbing Nick Munas of Weirton.

Lyle V. Fritz of Cincinnati, indicted by the Grand Jury on a charge of auto theft at Waterford Park in November, was sentenced to Moundsville State Penitentiary.

Court Affirms School Setup

LISBON — The 7th District Court of Appeals Friday affirmed a Common Pleas Court ruling in the suit of Fred H. Johnson of Summitville against the Columbiana County Board of Education.

The suit developed when the county board placed Franklin Local School District in the new Southern Local School District Sept. 14, 1961. The suit was started by Johnson to give Franklin Local residents a chance to vote to decide if they preferred to go into Southern Local or into a Carroll County School District.

After several days of testimony, Judge Raymond S. Buzzard ruled that the county board's merger of Franklin with the new Southern Local School District was legal, but that Franklin should have been given a chance to vote. He added, however, that since Franklin Local wished to transfer to another district, residents of the entire new district had a right to vote on the issue. This would mean Highlandtown, No. 16, Salineville, Wayne and Franklin Local Districts, would vote on the issue, not just Franklin.

An appeal was filed by Johnson's attorneys in January 1962 after Judge Buzzard's ruling on Nov. 29, 1961.

The Appellate Court heard arguments last Sept. 13 at Lisbon and took the case under advisement.

Jack Hamilton of Philadelphia led the National League in wild pitches in 1962 with 22.

City Man's Driving Permit Is Suspended

The driving permit of Melvin Lee Harris, 48, of 1071 Pennsylvania Ave. was suspended for one year under the state's 12-point demerit system Friday at Lisbon.

Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp suspended the permit after a report from the State Department of Motor Vehicles showed two arrests for driving while intoxicated, Sept. 17 and Jan. 10.

Judge Sharp declared Harris an habitual violator and since East Liverpool Municipal Court took his license on Jan. 10, the judge continued the suspension until Feb. 15, 1964.

4 Of Hancock Funds Voided

Hancock County commissioners Friday rejected operating budgets for the new fiscal year submitted for approval by heads of four Courthouse departments in New Cumberland.

In a 2-1 vote, commissioners agreed that they will not make any allowances to the sheriff's office, circuit court clerk's office, county clerk's office or assessor's office until it is learned the amount of revenue that will be available through taxes.

Resolutions announcing the rejection of the budget of each department are to be distributed in the Courthouse.

Each department head submitted his budget Feb. 1 and commissioners were to approve or reject the figures by Friday.

They have until March 28 to complete the county's operating budget for fiscal 1963-64, starting July 1.

Voting to reject the department budgets were Commisiioners William C. Graham and Robert E. Roach, while Commissioner James Finley dissented.

Graham explained that commissioners cannot consider the fiscal budgets for each department until the assessor's office turns over the final figures on revenue that will be available through taxes.

When the final figures are received, commissioners will then consider the fiscal budgets for each department, if they contain itemized statements on the amount to be expended by each employe and the manner in which it is to be expended.

Car Door Costs $5

SALINEVILLE — Albert G. Newhouse of Hanover Rd. was fined $6 and costs for opening his car door into traffic at a hearing Friday night before Mayor Stanley Fitch. Newhouse was cited Wednesday. He had parked on Main St. and then opened the left door into the path of a car driven by Clarence Melhorn of West End.

New Round Set In Fight Over Holiday Working

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With the Washington's birthday anniversary less than a week off, it appears that another round is about to be fought in the battle over February holidays for state employes.

Atty. Gen. William Saxbe says he'll appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court from rulings by Franklin County Common Pleas Court and the 10th District Court of Appeals in Columbus. Both said state workers are entitled to Lincoln's (Feb. 12) and Washington's (Feb. 22) birthdays as holidays.

Gov. James A. Rhodes has sought to require work on both days, contending it is necessary as an economy measure. When the courts ruled against denying the holidays, Rhodes called for state employes to work voluntarily without extra pay or compensating time off.

Rhodes says there was a 95 per cent turnout last Tuesday, and has renewed his request for voluntary work next Friday. But some state employes say privately that they worked because they felt they might lose their jobs.

Trials Due 2 In Hancock

Trial dates were set by Judge James G. McClure Friday afternoon in Hancock County Circuit Court in New Cumberland for two defendants indicted by the January Grand Jury on charges of robbery in Weirton.

Judge McClure also sentenced a Cincinnati resident to 1-10 years in prison on a charge of auto theft.

Pleading innocent at their arraignment on charges of robbery of $3,500 from a Weirton man Sept. 26 were Paul William Bates, 53, of Massillon and Michael Pekch, 48, of Weirton.

Judge McClure set trial April 3 for Pekech and April 4 for Bates. They are accused of robbing Nick Munas of Weirton.

Lyle V. Fritz of Cincinnati, indicted by the Grand Jury on a charge of auto theft at Waterford Park in November, was sentenced to Moundsville State Penitentiary.

Toronto Area Autoist Dies At Wheel Of Car

A Toronto area man died of an apparent heart attack while driving on Route 213 about four miles north of Steubenville at 7:05 a. m. today.

Court Affirms School Setup

LISBON — The 7th District Court of Appeals Friday affirmed a Common Pleas Court ruling in the suit of Fred H. Johnson of Summitville against the Columbiana County Board of Education.

The suit developed when the county board placed Franklin Local School District in the new Southern Local School District Sept. 14, 1961. The suit was started by Johnson to give Franklin Local residents a chance to vote to decide if they preferred to go into Southern Local or into a Carroll County School District.

After several days of testimony, Judge Raymond S. Buzzard ruled that the county board's merger of Franklin with the new Southern Local School District was legal, but that Franklin should have been given a chance to vote. He added, however, that since Franklin Local wished to transfer to another district, residents of the entire new district had a right to vote on the issue. This would mean Highlandtown, No. 16, Salineville, Wayne and Franklin Local Districts, would vote on the issue, not just Franklin.

An appeal was filed by Johnson's attorneys in January 1962 after Judge Buzzard's ruling on Nov. 29, 1961.

The Appellate Court heard arguments last Sept. 13 at Lisbon and took the case under advisement.

Jack Hamilton of Philadelphia led the National League in wild pitches in 1962 with 22.

Gets Prison Term

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bernard Farmer, 38, of Youngstown, was sentenced to 18 months in prison Friday for operating a still. Farmer and Louis E. Thomas, 33, of Youngstown pleaded guilty Jan. 11 to charges arising from a raid last Sept. 8, when authorities arrsted the two in Thomas' home. Thomas was placed on probation for one year.

Firemen said the home was not damaged. About 12 men responded from the Glenmoor department. Four trucks were sent as the fire was first reported in the home.

He Who Prophesies Can't Win

If President Kennedy honestly believes the U.S. economy will go down the drain unless Congress enacts his tax-cutting proposal, he is in trouble. He would be prophesying his defeat in 1964.

The edge has been taken off the tax-cutting proposal by the realization it was accompanied by no expense-cutting. Whatever it saved would be a net addition to the national debt—another interest-bearing IOU dropped into the U.S. Treasury by a profligate administration unable to live within its income.

The stimulating effect the proposal was supposed to have has been discounted heavily and will be discounted still more when Congress waters it down—and when the Internal Revenue Service reveals its plans for making up losses with tighter policies on exemptions.

What seems more likely under the circumstances is a stable economic year with no boom and no bust—a "normal" year geared to a prospect of stability.

THE NET GAIN so far from President Kennedy's tax-cutting proposal is certainty there will be no tax boosting. The prospect of stability is sufficient to stimulate the economy in itself.

It would not be easy for the President to find support outside his own circle of inner advisers for his prophecy about a slump if his administration cannot push through a tax-cutting bill to its liking.

Glooming and dooming always has been a risky political experience in the United States. Gloomer-doomers have been selling America short since they saw no hope for the Plymouth Colony after that first hard winter.

THEY CONSISTENTLY have overestimated its handicaps and underestimated the capacity of Americans to make monkeys of hope-abandoning Cassandras who saw nothing looming ahead but trouble.

There is still a possibility Congress may rise to the occasion by cutting taxes and then cutting spending in proportion. That would firm up confidence to a boom level. Investors would be heartened. Taxpayers would be heartened.

Popular psychology would be swung over strongly to the plus side, instead of wavering where it is now—halfway between Doubtful and Sour.

If it continues to stay closer to Doubtful than Sour, no business downturn is likely.

In the one case, Mr. Kennedy would be a poor prophet. In the other, he would be a deeply unhappy chief executive.

Kiwanis Progress

Kiwanis Club members in East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and elsewhere in the district and nation are especially proud of their service organization this month with the establishment of the first Kiwanis Club outside continental North America, except Hawaii.

A charter was presented last Saturday to the Kiwanis Club of Nassau, Bahamas, an extension into the international field by the organization which, since its founding in 1915, has operated only in the United States and Canada.

Later this year, Kiwanis International will go European with the establishment of a new club in Vienna, Austria.

This growth implements one of the main objectives of the club, or as Merle Tucker of New Mexico, president of Kiwanis, said, "It is the privilege of Kiwanis to assist in a small way toward the solution of the greater problems of mankind by easing through international extension the differences of opinion and the stresses and strains of a world in the making."

Generous Hand That Taketh Away

Ohio's Sen. Frank J. Lausche may be on the track of a great principle in public administration.

He is proposing to make transportation equipment reserve funds free from federal income tax.

He thinks it would be smarter to give management in the transportation industry a chance to pay their own way than to tax an industry until it goes broke, then bail it out with a federal subsidy.

Under the same principle, the federal government would make it possible for the aged and the sick and their families and friends to get full tax relief for the money it costs for medical expenses, instead of whittling them down to a state of indigency and then proposing that it come to their rescue with public funds.

The federal government would allow education expenses up to $2,000 a year for students listed as dependents, instead of making it tough for parents by giving them an absurd $600 deducation, whether a child is a graduate student studying medicine or a babe in arms. Federal aid to education woud have no appeal if people could pay their own bills.

Of course, if the principle were put into full effect it would be a revolution in government.

Localities would pay their own way because federal taxes no longer would be squeezing the juice out of local tax sources.

There would be no further need to send the bulk of public money to Washington first, to be returned later minus shrinkage in return for the gratitude of local yokels mindless of the fact the money was theirs in the first place.

Sen. Lausche has hold of something hot. Imagine what it would mean if people were permitted to pay their own way instead of beseeching Washington for grants and subsidies!

What would politicians use to earn gratitude if they couldn't give back the people's money?

New Voice From A Back Bench

There was every compelling reason to believe Britain's Labor party would turn to Harold Wilson for leadership after it had given George Brown a run for his money. This was done when the first vote on Hugh Gaitskell's successor failed to give Wilson a clear majority.

Deputy leader Brown having failed to make the grade, the way was open for Wilson, the party's leading intellectual and its most attractive "wunderkind," to do what he has been preparing to do—follow Gaitskell.

His first move as Labor party spokesman is against the Polaris pact entered into at Nassau by Prime Minister Macmillan. If he supplants Macmillan as prime minister, in the event of a Conservative party defeat this year, he will "ban the bomb." Britain will drop out of the "nuclear club."

This is a hard shock to U.S. sensibilities. Two things must be remembered.

First, as spokesman for the opposition Wilson must find something to oppose. His predecessor Gaitskell was getting nowhere agreeing with Macmillan against the judgment of many Labor party members.

Second, he is nowhere near being prime minister, nor is the Labor party anywhere near the election triumph that would put him in line for the job.

The truth is that many Britons who yammer about "banning the bomb" would be scared witless if they had to quit talking and start banning. It is the last thing on earth they want to do, but it makes a wonderful thing to talk about while getting used to the idea that the British navy, which once ruled the seas, and the Royal Air Force, which chased Nazi Germany out of the air, are not going to be followed by first-rate nuclear capacity.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Adversity is still batting us around here like a pair of battered ping-pong balls. We are tired of it.

We are tired of wearing galoshes every time we go outside, shivering on the cold seats of deep-frozen automobiles, pulling on and taking off gloves;

Remembering to take clean handkerchiefs along because we'll be needing them, backing into rooms to keep our glasses from steaming, breathing through our noses instead of our mouths when feeling winded;

Listening to the furnace turn on and off, making mental estimates of what this is going to cost for the heating season, stuffing scarves in the sleeves of coats so they won't fall on the floor and be forgotten;

Filling bird feeders, keeping exposed pipes thawed out, fighting cats that want to move into the house to stay warm, trying to keep our dogs off the beds when they have snow between their toes that melts;

Looking at the thermometer before we leave the house, before we go to bed and when we get up in the morning, feeling sorry for the poor wretches in parts of the world unprepared for severe weather, worrying about fuel line freeze-up;

Gazing disconsolately at tired snow when it hasn't snowed for a few days and at clean snow when it has just finished snowing, licking chapped lips, restoring circulation in clammy toes;

Peering through scummy windshields, noticing the dirt on porches, worrying about that unstable feeling when a car hits a slippery spot and is on the verge of going into a skid, sweeping the front and back steps, wading through slush;

Staring at the hole that salt has eaten through the rocker panel of a car you still think of as new, paying attention to the weather report in case another big blow is about to be delivered;

Listening to bores tell about winter vacations in the sub-tropics, envying their healthy tanned appearance, cursing the fate that caused us to be financial failures instead of jingle-jangle successes;

Checking the supply cupboard to be sure of enough staple items to last through a blizzard, gaping at pictures of people doing tricks on skis, listening to people tell stories about what happened to them in snowdrifts;

Explaining to cheeseheads who insist they like cold weather — the colder the better, reading about friends who checked out for the duration while shoveling snow;

And brooding about how much better our lives might have been if we had been born in Madagascar.

Aside from this we are as well as could be expected and probably are bearing up better than most. Regards to all.

Yugoslavia Part Of 'Free World'?

By Victor Riesel

Insiders are wondering just who, high in what Federal Department, sitting as a specialist on what "desk", decided that the United States officially shall list Marshal Tito's Communist Yugoslavia as part of the "free world."

Victor Riesel

There will be an uproar. Yugoslavia, which has a tough secret police, and which has jailed those opposed to its one-party dictatorship, thus is officially designated in a document issued by the U.S. Maritime Administration.

This document is the Maritime Administration's recent listing of vessels supplying Fidel Castro's Cuba The paper was issued under the heading: "Free World Ships in Cuban Trade." This covers the period from Sept. 1, 1962 to Nov. 30, 1962.

Under the rather charitable heading of "Free World Ships" are five of the Yugoslav's 159 vessels of Belgrade's merchant fleet—all owned, of course, by Tito's state trust. I found the logs of these five carriers intriguing.

THE FIRST, the SS Drzic, which has plied between U.S. Gulf ports and European harbors, was in Havana last fall after it steamed from Kherson, U.S.S.R.

There is the SS Iz. This is a big tanker. It pulled into Havana on Nov. 17—note the date—with a heavy load of vital fuel. It had loaded up in Tuapse, U.S.S.R.

Also the SS Jablanica out of Novorissisk, U.S.S.R., sailed into Santiago last Sept. 6. It unloaded important industrial cargo. Then it made for the Bahamas—apparently a new transshipment point. Then back to Cienfuegos on Oct. 13. Note the date. That was the critical point. The Russians were raising their rocket launching apparatus.

And the SS Ploce. It arrived in Havana on Oct. 22. Note the date. President Kennedy spoke that night. It sailed out of Novorissisk, big supply depot for materiel destined for Castro.

FINALLY there was the Rumija. It hove into Havana in October after picking up equipment in Ploce, Yugoslavia and Emden, Germany—West Germany at that.

Despite the Maritime Administration's interpretation of Marxist history, angry longshoremen have decided they'll just not go along with the "Free World" label on Yugoslavia. The leaders and rank-and-file dockwallopers of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) are members of the AFL-CIO.

It happens that the parent labor organization has charged Marshal Tito with intolerant dictatorship, with imprisonment of labor leaders, with running a controlled, Soviet-type unfree trade union system.

The American labor men simply refuse to receive any Yugoslav in the national AFL-CIO headquarters.

ONLY RECENTLY, the AFL-CIO globe-roving U.N. specialist, Irving Brown, was loudly insulted at a reception in Algeria. A Yugoslav diplomat approached Brown, asked a question about Cuba and then screamed that the Americans were "imperialist interventionists" in Cuba. "Interventionists," the Yugoslav foreign service official shouted again and again.

Most of this is known to the longshoremen. So they decided not to handle any of the many Yugoslav merchant vessels which put into U.S. ports for U.S. foreign aid cargo—or any loads whatsoever.

This will hurt Yugoslavia. Eighty-three times in 1962 Yugoslav ships sailed into New York harbor. And that's merely one of our big ports. Being direct actionists, the longshoremen's leaders dispatched a telegram Feb. 11, to Yugoslav Ambassador Veljko Micunovick.

"I am informing you," said the wire in part, "that in instances where shipping is owned by the State. . . and is engaged in trade with Cuba the membership of the ILA will refuse to handle all ships of the country involved.

"Many shipping companies. . . active in the Cuba trade have been cleared by the ILA upon receipt of a letter. . . stating that none of their ships would go to Cuba any longer. . . we would be happy to include Yugoslavia in this group if we receive confirmation from you that no ships flying the Yugoslav flag will go to Cuba in the future.

"If not we have no alternative but to refuse to work any Yugoslav ships in any U.S. ports. . . ."

THERE HAS been no reply.

Perhaps the telegram is tough. But some ILA leaders recalled a toast Marshal Tito drank to Soviet leaders in Belgrade at the end of September.

"We need not quarrel," said President Tito to the newly arrived Russian chiefs. ". . . we must stop this and be good friends. I believe that this visit of the chairman of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet Presidium will be a great step forward in our relations.

"I raise this glass to the friendship between the peoples of Yugoslavia and the peoples of the Soviet Union, to Comrade Brezhnev and his wife, to the first secretary of the Communist party of the Soviet Union, Comrade Khrushchev."

This is the "free world"?

Turning Point For U.N.

By David Lawrence

Aid For Cuba Brings U.S. Reaction

The United Nations has reached a turning point in its history. Sentiment in the United States for withdrawal from the international organization has just been given strong new impetus. For the American people will be asked through Congress to decide whether taxpayers' money shall be channelled into Cuba through the U.N. to help Castro maintain his inhumane regime. Hundreds of innocent persons have been executed by the gangster government in Havana, yet the U.N. puts its stamp of approval on such a government by furnishing funds to sustain the domestic position of a cruel dictator.

David Lawrence

Democrats as well as Republicans have denounced the U.N.'s action on the floor of Congress.

The point is made by President Kennedy that none of the money to be spent in Cuba will come directly from the funds furnished by the United States. But funds can always be redistributed or reallocated to achieve a political objective.

The fact remains that the American government is paying a large share of the expenses of the U.N., and it is no secret that the United States is trying to help liberate the people of Cuba by putting the squeeze on the island's economy.

WHEN THE U.N. flagrantly ignores the policy of the United States, it brings up the broad question of whether financial aid by American taxpayers shall be extended blindly and without any opportunity to keep the funds from being used to defeat the foreign policy of this country.

U.N. officials argue that they are not interfering in the internal politics of Cuba. But, realistically, anything that bolsters the Cuban economy is an intervention, especially at a moment when the United States is trying, by means of a shipping boycott, to weaken the Castro government and bring about its downfall.

It will be said that the United States cannot expect to influence the actions of an international organization in which it has only one vote. But neither is the American government obligated to supply money for an organization whose projects run counter to American foreign policies.

The U.N. has been in deep financial trouble lately, and this country has helped out by paying for more than its share of the expenses of the organization. Congress, however — and not the State Department or the White House — has the final say as to how the taxpayers' money shall be loaned or given away.

THE U.N. bond issue had a tough time getting through Congress last year, and there are renewed expressions of doubt now even about the foreign aid program in which the United States alone decides how to spend its money.

This will cause Congress at least to examine more carefully any legislation that would appropriate money over whose distribution this country has no control.

The argument that America, as a philanthropically minded nation, should help underdeveloped or backward countries will continue to make a certain appeal. At a time, however, when the American people are being asked to incur a treasury deficit of more than $20 billion, it will doubtless occur to many members of Congress that this presents a paradox which cannot be easily explained to the voters.

The whole amount to be spent in Cuba by the U.N. for the new project of agricultural development is comparatively small — about $1.2 million. It isn't, however, the sum allocated but the principle which bothers the American government at this time.

The State Department tried to persuade the U.N. officials that it would be an unwise move, but the protest was of no avail.

Furthermore, if this project goes through, it will cause a hesitation in Congress to approve all other appropriations for the benefit of the United Nations.

Coincidentally with the announcement of the pro-Castro action by the director of the U.N. special fund, a pro-Communist booklet issued by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization has come into the news.

THIS PUBLICATION extols the alleged social and political equality existing inside the Soviet Union and asserts that Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia "voluntarily joined the Soviet Union" in 1940.

Everybody knows that early in World War II the Soviet army by military force seized those three countries, which were then incorporated into the Soviet Union, where they have remained ever since.

This action has never been recognized by the United States, Great Britain and many other countries. The assembly of captive European nations, which is composed of political exiles from the Eastern European Communist bloc, has protested against the booklet and calls it "Soviet propaganda."

On the Senate floor, Democratic Whip Hubert Humphrey declared that the statement in the U.N. booklet that the Baltic States had voluntarily joined the Soviet Union is "pure patent nonsense."

He said that it was "intolerable" that such a report should be published by an international organization "dedicated to truth and scientific knowledge."

The United Nations is surely in for trouble with American public opinion for it develops that UNESCO, which issued the booklet, is financed nearly one-third by the people of this country and less than one-sixth by the Soviet Union. Maybe Moscow should pay the whole bill.

Forerunners Of Change

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The small convulsions shaking the West at the moment of its greatest power—and when the Communist front is cracking—look like forerunners of change in what seemed solid and simple for 16 years.

The change, which may force this country into new thinking in the years ahead and into new arrangements with its allies, has some bitter ironies, bitter because they are the product of success.

It was 16 years ago that the United States dropped the last remnants of isolationism — when President Truman decided to help Greece and Turkey against Russia—and assumed leadership and partnership in the West.

In the late 1940s, when the Western Allies were flat on their backs, it was American money which saved them from chaos and perhaps revolution and Communist take-over. American arms protected them from Russian infringement.

The pattern of the 1950s — the NATO alliance and the bases and the American presence in the form of troops—looked indefinitely fixed, a kind of happy solution built up over many years to last many years.

Gradually and only recently—as the United States and Russia built up their intercontinental weapons—the idea sank into the consciousness of the world that the two giants had become so powerful they had reached a stand-off.

War between them would destroy both of them. Therefore, both would be most reluctant to begin a war.

Two other things were happening: Europe had become fat and prosperous and communism no longer presented a solid wall. It began to split and crack as the Russians and Red Chinese quarreled.

Europe developed then a greater sense of security—less fear—than it had had since the war.

Since the United States could now protect Europe from its own bases at home with its intercontinental missles, the Europeans developed a greater sense of confidence and well-being and a reluctance to have American bases near them.

The United States is taking its out-dated missiles out of Italy and Turkey. It wishes to replace them, still as a deterrent to Russia, with the missiles on Polaris submarines. It wants submarine bases in Italy and Spain. The Italians and Spaniards reportedly are showing reluctance.

Therefore, in the years ahead many rearrangements may have to be made. The old pattern is dying. The new arrangements may not all be happy or palatable. Some may be disastrous.

The more unpleasant they are, the more surely they will lay the foundation for the resurrection of American isolationism, a desire to retreat behind the protection of the intercontinental missiles.

He Who Prophesies Can't Win

If President Kennedy honestly believes the U.S. economy will go down the drain unless Congress enacts his tax-cutting proposal, he is in trouble. He would be prophesying his defeat in 1964.

The edge has been taken off the tax-cutting proposal by the realization it was accompanied by no expense-cutting. Whatever it saved would be a net addition to the national debt—another interest-bearing IOU dropped into the U.S. Treasury by a profligate administration unable to live within its income.

The stimulating effect the proposal was supposed to have has been discounted heavily and will be discounted still more when Congress waters it down—and when the Internal Revenue Service reveals its plans for making up losses with tighter policies on exemptions.

What seems more likely under the circumstances is a stable economic year with no boom and no bust—a "normal" year geared to a prospect of stability.

THE NET GAIN so far from President Kennedy's tax-cutting proposal is certainty there will be no tax boosting. The prospect of stability is sufficient to stimulate the economy in itself.

It would not be easy for the President to find support outside his own circle of inner advisers for his prophecy about a slump if his administration cannot push through a tax-cutting bill to its liking.

Glooming and dooming always has been a risky political experience in the United States. Gloomer-doomers have been selling America short since they saw no hope for the Plymouth Colony after that first hard winter.

THEY CONSISTENTLY have overestimated its handicaps and underestimated the capacity of Americans to make monkeys of hope-abandoning Cassandras who saw nothing looming ahead but trouble.

There is still a possibility Congress may rise to the occasion by cutting taxes and then cutting spending in proportion. That would firm up confidence to a boom level. Investors would be heartened. Taxpayers would be heartened.

Popular psychology would be swung over strongly to the plus side, instead of wavering where it is now—halfway between Doubtful and Sour.

If it continues to stay closer to Doubtful than Sour, no business downturn is likely.

In the one case, Mr. Kennedy would be a poor prophet. In the other, he would be a deeply unhappy chief executive.

Kiwanis Progress

Kiwanis Club members in East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and elsewhere in the district and nation are especially proud of their service organization this month with the establishment of the first Kiwanis Club outside continental North America, except Hawaii.

A charter was presented last Saturday to the Kiwanis Club of Nassau, Bahamas, an extension into the international field by the organization which, since its founding in 1915, has operated only in the United States and Canada.

Later this year, Kiwanis International will go European with the establishment of a new club in Vienna, Austria.

This growth implements one of the main objectives of the club, or as Merle Tucker of New Mexico, president of Kiwanis, said, "It is the privilege of Kiwanis to assist in a small way toward the solution of the greater problems of mankind by easing through international extension the differences of opinion and the stresses and strains of a world in the making."

Generous Hand That Taketh Away

Ohio's Sen. Frank J. Lausche may be on the track of a great principle in public administration.

He is proposing to make transportation equipment reserve funds free from federal income tax.

He thinks it would be smarter to give management in the transportation industry a chance to pay their own way than to tax an industry until it goes broke, then bail it out with a federal subsidy.

Under the same principle, the federal government would make it possible for the aged and the sick and their families and friends to get full tax relief for the money it costs for medical expenses, instead of whittling them down to a state of indigency and then proposing that it come to their rescue with public funds.

The federal government would allow education expenses up to $2,000 a year for students listed as dependents, instead of making it tough for parents by giving them an absurd $600 deducation, whether a child is a graduate student studying medicine or a babe in arms. Federal aid to education woud have no appeal if people could pay their own bills.

Of course, if the principle were put into full effect it would be a revolution in government.

Localities would pay their own way because federal taxes no longer would be squeezing the juice out of local tax sources.

There would be no further need to send the bulk of public money to Washington first, to be returned later minus shrinkage in return for the gratitude of local yokels mindless of the fact the money was theirs in the first place.

Sen. Lausche has hold of something hot. Imagine what it would mean if people were permitted to pay their own way instead of beseeching Washington for grants and subsidies!

What would politicians use to earn gratitude if they couldn't give back the people's money?

New Voice From A Back Bench

There was every compelling reason to believe Britain's Labor party would turn to Harold Wilson for leadership after it had given George Brown a run for his money. This was done when the first vote on Hugh Gaitskell's successor failed to give Wilson a clear majority.

Deputy leader Brown having failed to make the grade, the way was open for Wilson, the party's leading intellectual and its most attractive "wunderkind," to do what he has been preparing to do—follow Gaitskell.

His first move as Labor party spokesman is against the Polaris pact entered into at Nassau by Prime Minister Macmillan. If he supplants Macmillan as prime minister, in the event of a Conservative party defeat this year, he will "ban the bomb." Britain will drop out of the "nuclear club."

This is a hard shock to U.S. sensibilities. Two things must be remembered.

First, as spokesman for the opposition Wilson must find something to oppose. His predecessor Gaitskell was getting nowhere agreeing with Macmillan against the judgment of many Labor party members.

Second, he is nowhere near being prime minister, nor is the Labor party anywhere near the election triumph that would put him in line for the job.

The truth is that many Britons who yammer about "banning the bomb" would be scared witless if they had to quit talking and start banning. It is the last thing on earth they want to do, but it makes a wonderful thing to talk about while getting used to the idea that the British navy, which once ruled the seas, and the Royal Air Force, which chased Nazi Germany out of the air, are not going to be followed by first-rate nuclear capacity.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Adversity is still batting us around here like a pair of battered ping-pong balls. We are tired of it.

We are tired of wearing galoshes every time we go outside, shivering on the cold seats of deep-frozen automobiles, pulling on and taking off gloves;

Remembering to take clean handkerchiefs along because we'll be needing them, backing into rooms to keep our glasses from steaming, breathing through our noses instead of our mouths when feeling winded;

Listening to the furnace turn on and off, making mental estimates of what this is going to cost for the heating season, stuffing scarves in the sleeves of coats so they won't fall on the floor and be forgotten;

Filling bird feeders, keeping exposed pipes thawed out, fighting cats that want to move into the house to stay warm, trying to keep our dogs off the beds when they have snow between their toes that melts;

Looking at the thermometer before we leave the house, before we go to bed and when we get up in the morning, feeling sorry for the poor wretches in parts of the world unprepared for severe weather, worrying about fuel line freeze-up;

Gazing disconsolately at tired snow when it hasn't snowed for a few days and at clean snow when it has just finished snowing, licking chapped lips, restoring circulation in clammy toes;

Peering through scummy windshields, noticing the dirt on porches, worrying about that unstable feeling when a car hits a slippery spot and is on the verge of going into a skid, sweeping the front and back steps, wading through slush;

Staring at the hole that salt has eaten through the rocker panel of a car you still think of as new, paying attention to the weather report in case another big blow is about to be delivered;

Listening to bores tell about winter vacations in the sub-tropics, envying their healthy tanned appearance, cursing the fate that caused us to be financial failures instead of jingle-jangle successes;

Checking the supply cupboard to be sure of enough staple items to last through a blizzard, gaping at pictures of people doing tricks on skis, listening to people tell stories about what happened to them in snowdrifts;

Explaining to cheeseheads who insist they like cold weather — the colder the better, reading about friends who checked out for the duration while shoveling snow;

And brooding about how much better our lives might have been if we had been born in Madagascar.

Aside from this we are as well as could be expected and probably are bearing up better than most. Regards to all.

Yugoslavia Part Of 'Free World'?

By Victor Riesel

Insiders are wondering just who, high in what Federal Department, sitting as a specialist on what "desk", decided that the United States officially shall list Marshal Tito's Communist Yugoslavia as part of the "free world."

Victor Riesel

There will be an uproar. Yugoslavia, which has a tough secret police, and which has jailed those opposed to its one-party dictatorship, thus is officially designated in a document issued by the U.S. Maritime Administration.

This document is the Maritime Administration's recent listing of vessels supplying Fidel Castro's Cuba The paper was issued under the heading: "Free World Ships in Cuban Trade." This covers the period from Sept. 1, 1962 to Nov. 30, 1962.

Under the rather charitable heading of "Free World Ships" are five of the Yugoslav's 159 vessels of Belgrade's merchant fleet—all owned, of course, by Tito's state trust. I found the logs of these five carriers intriguing.

THE FIRST, the SS Drzic, which has plied between U.S. Gulf ports and European harbors, was in Havana last fall after it steamed from Kherson, U.S.S.R.

There is the SS Iz. This is a big tanker. It pulled into Havana on Nov. 17—note the date—with a heavy load of vital fuel. It had loaded up in Tuapse, U.S.S.R.

Also the SS Jablanica out of Novorissisk, U.S.S.R., sailed into Santiago last Sept. 6. It unloaded important industrial cargo. Then it made for the Bahamas—apparently a new transshipment point. Then back to Cienfuegos on Oct. 13. Note the date. That was the critical point. The Russians were raising their rocket launching apparatus.

And the SS Ploce. It arrived in Havana on Oct. 22. Note the date. President Kennedy spoke that night. It sailed out of Novorissisk, big supply depot for materiel destined for Castro.

FINALLY there was the Rumija. It hove into Havana in October after picking up equipment in Ploce, Yugoslavia and Emden, Germany—West Germany at that.

Despite the Maritime Administration's interpretation of Marxist history, angry longshoremen have decided they'll just not go along with the "Free World" label on Yugoslavia. The leaders and rank-and-file dockwallopers of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) are members of the AFL-CIO.

It happens that the parent labor organization has charged Marshal Tito with intolerant dictatorship, with imprisonment of labor leaders, with running a controlled, Soviet-type unfree trade union system.

The American labor men simply refuse to receive any Yugoslav in the national AFL-CIO headquarters.

ONLY RECENTLY, the AFL-CIO globe-roving U.N. specialist, Irving Brown, was loudly insulted at a reception in Algeria. A Yugoslav diplomat approached Brown, asked a question about Cuba and then screamed that the Americans were "imperialist interventionists" in Cuba. "Interventionists," the Yugoslav foreign service official shouted again and again.

Most of this is known to the longshoremen. So they decided not to handle any of the many Yugoslav merchant vessels which put into U.S. ports for U.S. foreign aid cargo—or any loads whatsoever.

This will hurt Yugoslavia. Eighty-three times in 1962 Yugoslav ships sailed into New York harbor. And that's merely one of our big ports. Being direct actionists, the longshoremen's leaders dispatched a telegram Feb. 11, to Yugoslav Ambassador Veljko Micunovick.

"I am informing you," said the wire in part, "that in instances where shipping is owned by the State. . . and is engaged in trade with Cuba the membership of the ILA will refuse to handle all ships of the country involved.

"Many shipping companies. . . active in the Cuba trade have been cleared by the ILA upon receipt of a letter. . . stating that none of their ships would go to Cuba any longer. . . we would be happy to include Yugoslavia in this group if we receive confirmation from you that no ships flying the Yugoslav flag will go to Cuba in the future.

"If not we have no alternative but to refuse to work any Yugoslav ships in any U.S. ports. . . ."

THERE HAS been no reply.

Perhaps the telegram is tough. But some ILA leaders recalled a toast Marshal Tito drank to Soviet leaders in Belgrade at the end of September.

"We need not quarrel," said President Tito to the newly arrived Russian chiefs. ". . . we must stop this and be good friends. I believe that this visit of the chairman of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet Presidium will be a great step forward in our relations.

"I raise this glass to the friendship between the peoples of Yugoslavia and the peoples of the Soviet Union, to Comrade Brezhnev and his wife, to the first secretary of the Communist party of the Soviet Union, Comrade Khrushchev."

This is the "free world"?

Turning Point For U.N.

By David Lawrence

Aid For Cuba Brings U.S. Reaction

The United Nations has reached a turning point in its history. Sentiment in the United States for withdrawal from the international organization has just been given strong new impetus. For the American people will be asked through Congress to decide whether taxpayers' money shall be channelled into Cuba through the U.N. to help Castro maintain his inhumane regime. Hundreds of innocent persons have been executed by the gangster government in Havana, yet the U.N. puts its stamp of approval on such a government by furnishing funds to sustain the domestic position of a cruel dictator.

David Lawrence

Democrats as well as Republicans have denounced the U.N.'s action on the floor of Congress.

The point is made by President Kennedy that none of the money to be spent in Cuba will come directly from the funds furnished by the United States. But funds can always be redistributed or reallocated to achieve a political objective.

The fact remains that the American government is paying a large share of the expenses of the U.N., and it is no secret that the United States is trying to help liberate the people of Cuba by putting the squeeze on the island's economy.

WHEN THE U.N. flagrantly ignores the policy of the United States, it brings up the broad question of whether financial aid by American taxpayers shall be extended blindly and without any opportunity to keep the funds from being used to defeat the foreign policy of this country.

U.N. officials argue that they are not interfering in the internal politics of Cuba. But, realistically, anything that bolsters the Cuban economy is an intervention, especially at a moment when the United States is trying, by means of a shipping boycott, to weaken the Castro government and bring about its downfall.

It will be said that the United States cannot expect to influence the actions of an international organization in which it has only one vote. But neither is the American government obligated to supply money for an organization whose projects run counter to American foreign policies.

The U.N. has been in deep financial trouble lately, and this country has helped out by paying for more than its share of the expenses of the organization. Congress, however — and not the State Department or the White House — has the final say as to how the taxpayers' money shall be loaned or given away.

THE U.N. bond issue had a tough time getting through Congress last year, and there are renewed expressions of doubt now even about the foreign aid program in which the United States alone decides how to spend it money.

This will cause Congress a least to examine more carefull any legislation that would appr priate money over whose distr bution this country has no contro

The argument that America, a a philanthropically minded na tion, should help underdevelope or backward countries will cor tinue to make a certain appeal At a time, however, when th American people are being aske to incur a treasury deficit o more than $20 billion, it wil doubtless occur to many mem bers of Congress that this pre sents a paradox which cannot b easily explained to the voters.

The whole amount to be spen in Cuba by the U.N. for the new project of agricultural develop ment is comparatively small – about $1.2 million. It isn't, how ever, the sum allocated but the principle which bothers the American government at this time.

The State Department tried t persuade the U.N. officials tha it would be an unwise move, bu the protest was of no avail.

Furthermore, if this project goes through, it will cause a hesi tation in Congress to approve all other appropriations for the bene fit of the United Nations.

Coincidentally with the an nouncement of the pro-Castro ac tion by the director of the U.N. special fund, a pro-Communist booklet issued by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization has come into the news.

THIS PUBLICATION extols the alleged social and political equality existing inside the Soviet Union and asserts that Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia "voluntarily joined the Soviet Union" in 1940.

Everybody knows that early in World War II the Soviet army by military force seized those three countries, which were then incorporated into the Soviet Union, where they have remained ever since.

This action has never been recognized by the United States, Great Britain and many other countries. The assembly of captive European nations, which is composed of political exiles from the Eastern European Communist bloc, has protested against the booklet and calls it "Soviet propaganda."

Four Fireman Are Hurt In Canton Fire

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Four firemen were injured when a brick wall collapsed while they were battling flames that roared through an old three-story building on the edge of Canton's main business district.

Two firemen suffered broken backs as the wall blew out with explosive force and buried them under debris.

Residents of the DeNoy Hotel, which occupied the second and third floors, were evacuated into the near-zero weather.

Assistant Fire Chief Paul Quinn estimated damage in the blaze late Friday at $75,000 to $100,000, including smoke and water damage to the adjacent State Theater, a burlesque house.

Quinn said the blaze apparently started in the Liberty Supply Co., a drygoods store, and swept through the building so fast that only 15 minutes after firemen arrived the wall blew out. The roof and another wall crashed down later, leaving only front and rear walls standing amid the rubble.

Quinn said several firemen were inside the building when a sudden expansion of heat blew out the first wall, but only the firemen standing outside on the sidewalk were injured.

One hotel resident jumped from a third floor window to the theater roof while firemen prepared to put a ladder up to the window of his room. Fortunately the firemen moved to another area to reach the resident, getting their equipment out of the way just moments before the wall came down where they had been.

The owner of the Liberty store, Herman Netler, told authorities he closed his shop around 5 p.m. The alarm was turned in at 5:06, Quinn said.

Fire walls kept the flames from spreading, although the marquee of the State Theater was ablaze at one point.

The fire raged out of control for more than three hours. All 144 Canton firemen, including those off duty, and all available equipment were summoned to help fight the general alarm fire.

In Mercy Hospital with broken backs were firemen Raymond Fernandez, 26, reported in fair condition, and J. B. Maney, 52, reportedly fairly good. Also hospitalized was Fred Hayes, 34. A fourth man was treated and released.

Cause of the blaze was not determined immediately.

PTA Marks Founder Day

Founder's Day, honoring past president, highlighted the meeting of the 4th St. Parent - Teacher Association Thursday afternoon at the Midland school.

Past officers present were Mrs. Jack Haggerty, Mrs. P. A. Fernsler, Mrs. Adam Hodnick and Mrs. Edward Cilli, current president. Corsages were presented the officers.

Mrs. Hodnick gave a talk on Founder's Day. Mrs. Haggerty led a valentine prayer and the flag salute. Miss Despena Gagianas, music instructor, led group singing.

Mrs. Haggerty, program chairman, presented the guest speakers, Mrs. Margaret Glumac, school nurse; Dr. Robert Higgenbotham, physician; John Wilson, president of the Midland Mental Health Advisory Council, who is also supervising principal of Midland Elementary Schools, and Dr. David Heckathorn, dentist. They spoke on "Our Child's Health In the 60's." A question - and - answer period followed.

Business was conducted by Mrs. Cilli and a nominating committee was named. Mrs. James Vesco, chairman, Mrs. Lester Barr and Mrs. Gill Clark. The slate of officers will be presented at the May meeting.

A joint meeting of the three PTA units will be held March 14 at the Midland High School auditorium. The program will be announced later. The three groups will sponsor an operetta, "Tom Sawyer," April 26 at the auditorium with Miss Gagianas in charge.

Tea was served with Mrs. Robert Reighard, Mrs. Vesco and Mrs. Hodnick presiding at the tea table. Mrs. Jack Balser, president of the 7th St. unit, also was a guest. A silver offering was received.

Easements Cleared For Bridge At Lisbon

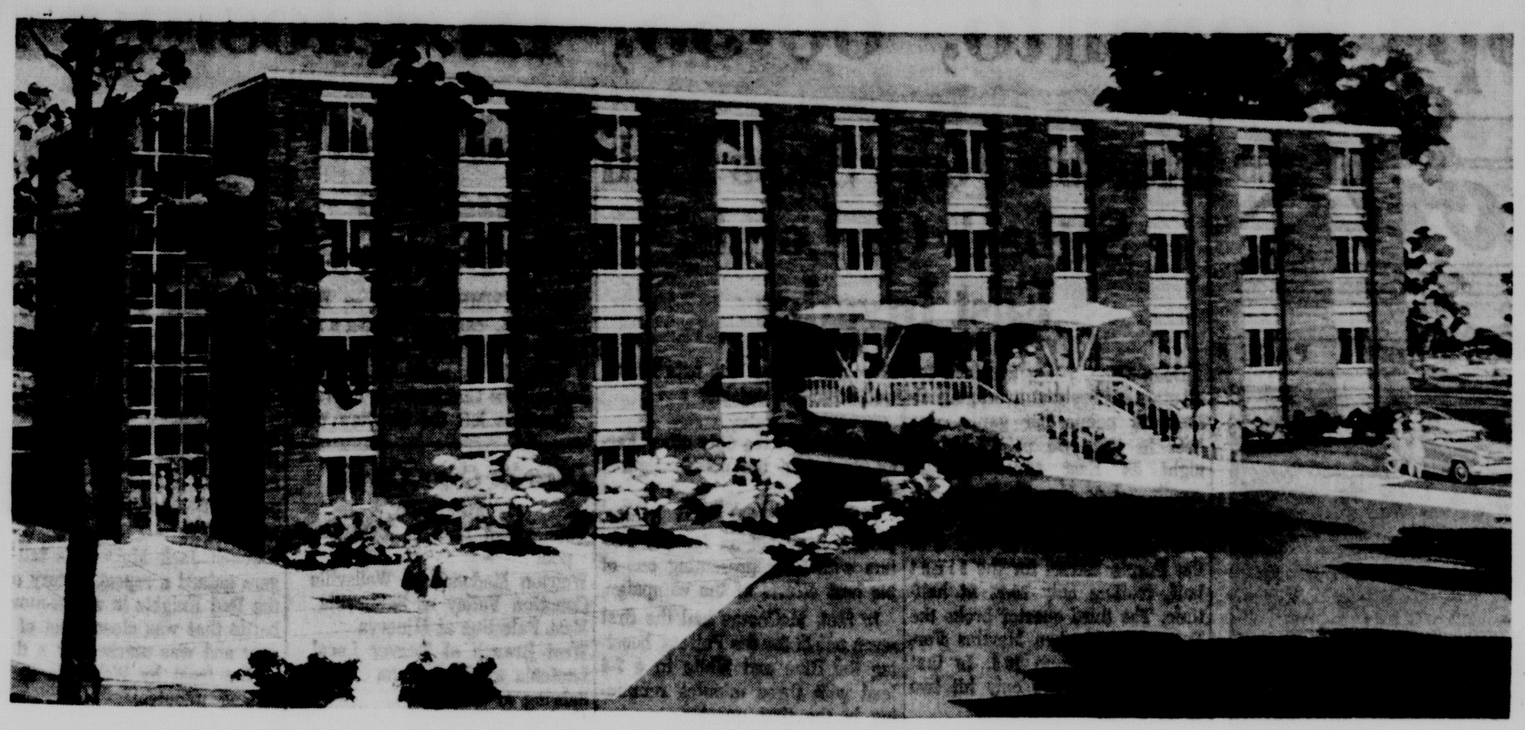

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners approved the easements received by Lisbon to construct a new bridge over the Little Beaver Creek, off S. Market St., at their meeting Thursday.

In other business, commissioners approved a $300 slag grant to Wayne Township for road improvement and received reports of two TB patients. One expired at Rocky Glenn and one was discharged from the Ohio TB Hospital at Columbus.

Commissioners will meet Monday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Addition Also Proposed

Hospital Plans $600,000 Nurses' Home

Construction of a new nurses' residence with a self-contained educational unit will be started this year, Miss Nell Robinson, City Hospital administrator, told the Lions Club Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

In the first public showing, this sketch of the proposed new home designed by Architect Robert F. Beatty was unveiled by Miss Robinson, who discussed other future projects and improvements made at the hospital in 1962.

Although the plans are not as far advanced as for the nurses' home, an addition also is contemplated to the west wing which will about double the space for the pediatric division and will permit enlargement and improvement of the dietary department, Miss Robinson said.

The new nurses' home is estimated to cost approximately $600,000 with some funds from the federal Hill - Burton Act anticipated to aid in the financing. Miss Robinson said no public fund campaign is planned.

It will be known officially as Harker - Metsch Nurses' School and Residence, Miss Robinson said.

The proposed four - story building will house 64 student nurses with two trainees in each room with each pair of rooms connected by a bath. There also will be social rooms, living rooms, classrooms and conference rooms.

The structure will front toward the present hospital buildings with the rear paralleling the present service entrance (the approach to the old street railway viaduct).

The present nurses' home, erected in 1907 as the first hospital, will continue in use during construction but will be razed when the new building is completed, she said.

Final plans for state and federal approval are being drawn by Beatty's staff and bids are expected to be received within a few months.

The contemplated addition to the west wing will extend into a section of the parking lot and will be T-shaped to adjoin the present wing erected in 1930.

In addition to providing sorely-needed space for the pediatric section, which Miss Robinson said is too crowded, the addition will permit the main dietary department to be expanded and improved. It has not been enlarged since 1930.

As a future possibility, establishment of a geriatric or "late-age" center to study the aging process is under consideration, she announced.

Only final approval from Washington is required to launch a nurses' aide training program in which the State Department of Education and the Ohio State Employment Service will use hospital facilities and personnel to train unemployed area women to be nursing aides in nursing homes and for other community employment.

When it begins, Miss Robinson said it will be the first such program launched in the state.

A second program, also slanted toward community service, will be launched later by the Ohio Department of Health through the local Board of Health, she said. However, it will be designed to increase the skills of women already trained as nurses' aides.

Miss Robinson expressed gratitude at being able to make the announcements of proposed physical and service facilities to the Lions, explaining the club was the first to provide a nursing scholarship and also makes an annual award at commencement for scholarship attainment.

She was introduced by Dr. J. Fraser Jackson, program chairman. James Johnston, president, presided.

City Hospital's Year Reviewed

Because it must mobilize the skills of widely divergent professional, semi-professional and non-professional groups to provide service to individual patients, City Hospital is a complex institution that is both similar to and different from most business organizations, Miss Nell Robinson, administrator, told the Lions Club Friday afternoon at Travelers Hotel.

Her talk concerned primarily a report on 1962 activities at the hospital.

Many of its departments are similar to community businesses in that "it is a hotel, restaurant, store, gift shop, pharmacy, laundry, business office and service organization."

—:—

IT DIFFERS from other businesses in that it provides personalized service, care and treatment to individual patients rather than manufacturing a uniform product.

The hospital also differs because it is a human rather than a machine system and the product "is human beings," she said.

Because of the nature of the work, only limited standardization can be useful and the work is of an emergency nature and not deferrable.

"The hospital is much more directly dependent upon and responsive to its surrounding community. The economic value of its products and objectives is secondary to the social and humanitarian values," Miss Robinson said.

Among the new equipment installed last year were oxygen machines, oxygen reels, two anesthesia machines for the operating rooms, equipment for the dental room, urology department, eye surgery, laboratory and X-ray department.

OTHER EQUIPMENT included safety sides for beds, invalid walker, utility tables, audiograph machines, resuscitators, wheel chairs, operating carts and four refrigerators, two institutional size for the dietary department and two for drug storage on floors.

A new telephone dialing system was installed to provide quicker service on inter-department and outside calls, television sets were installed in nine rooms, and parking lots were enlarged and resurfaced.

One of the major projects was renovation of rooms on 2 East and the men's wards with the women's auxiliary contributing $23,191 to finance the work.

In addition to the contribution of funds, the auxiliary gave 12,443 hours of service on projects including baby photos, bookmobile gift shop, remembrance fund, snack bar and surgical dressings.

—:—

MISS ROBINSON paid tribute to the women, pointing out women were the first organizers of the hospital but asked the men to take over the management when they ran into financial trouble.

But the good work of the women "is a continuing golden thread weaving through the hospital's history," she remarked.

While admissions to the hospital declined from 1961, the average stay was increased by more than half a day, Miss Robinson said.

Admissions last year totaled 8,722 with 6,129 adults, 1,442 children and 1,151 births. In 1961, there were 8,896 admissions with 6,306 adults, 1,362 children and 1,227 births.

The average stay last year was 6.7 days compared to 6.03 in 1961.

The decline in births is part of a downward trend noted both in Ohio and nationally, Miss Robinson said. There were 118 fewer births in the East Liverpool area last year than in 1961, she explained.

—:—

THE BIRTHS included 592 girls and 559 boys with 13 sets of twins. The twins included four sets of boys, six of girls and three mixed.

There were 8,702 patients discharged, including 294 deaths and 20 stillbirths.

The overall occupancy was 80 per cent with 51 per cent in the maternity section and 92 per cent for medical and surgical care.

There were 6,228 using the emergency room, Miss Robinson said, but not all were emergencies. The figure includes those coming to the hospital for dressings and casts.

A total of 2,707 operations were performed compared to 2,543 in 1961. Operations last year included 797 major, with 59 caesarian sections and 1,910 minor operations.

THE LABORATORY conducted 79,016 tests and provided 756 blood transfusions while the X-ray department processed 10,418 patients with 35,575 films and 2,264 fluoroscopic examinations.

A total of 198,945 meals were served to patients and personnel and the laundry processed 534,019 pounds of flat work and 23,497 pounds of individual pieces, including gowns, caps and uniforms. Housekeeping service hours totaled 56,711 or 7,089 days.

Nursing service days totaled 46,602, including 20,836 by registered nurses, 18,951 by nurses' aides and 5,890 by student nurses. Private duty nurses accounted for 925 days.

The Gray Ladies of the Red Cross Chapter provided 8,130 hours of personal service. Three classes were held with the most recent one for Junior Gray Ladies over 16.

Not only are the girls helpful to patients, but the project creates interest in the nursing profession and constructive participation for juniors, she said.

Unemployed Claims Show Drop In Week

Claims for unemployment compensation dropped 53 this week to 638, the Ohio State Employment Service office reported.

The office processed 62 new claims and 576 continuing claims compared to 691 for the week ending Feb. 9, Harry L. Dinsmore, manager, said.

The office will be closed Friday because of Washington's Birthday with claimants who normally report on that day reporting on Thursday, Dinsmore reminded.

Because of the nature of the work, only limited standardization can be useful and the work is of an emergency nature and not deferrable.

"The hospital is much more directly dependent upon and responsive to its surrounding community. The economic value of its products and objectives is secondary to the social and humanitarian values," Miss Robinson said.

Among the new equipment installed last year were oxygen machines, oxygen reels, two anesthesia machines for the operating rooms, equipment for the dental room, urology department, eye surgery, laboratory and X-ray department.

OTHER EQUIPMENT included safety sides for beds, invalid walker, utility tables, audiograph machines, resuscitators, wheel chairs, operating carts and four refrigerators, two institutional size for the dietary department and two for drug storage on floors.

A new telephone dialing system was installed to provide quicker service on inter-department and outside calls, television sets were installed in nine rooms, and parking lots were enlarged and resurfaced.

One of the major projects was renovation of rooms on 2 East and the men's wards with the women's auxiliary contributing $23,191 to finance the work.

In addition to the contribution of funds, the auxiliary gave 12,443 hours of service on projects including baby photos, bookmobile gift shop, remembrance fund, snack bar and surgical dressings.

—:—

MISS ROBINSON paid tribute to the women, pointing out women were the first organizers of the hospital but asked the men to take over the management when they ran into financial trouble.

But the good work of the women "is a continuing golden thread weaving through the hospital's history," she remarked.

While admissions to the hospital declined from 1961, the average stay was increased by more than half a day, Miss Robinson said.

Admissions last year totaled 8,722 with 6,129 adults, 1,442 children and 1,151 births. In 1961, there were 8,896 admissions with 6,306 adults, 1,362 children and 1,227 births.

The average stay last year was 6.7 days compared to 6.03 in 1961.

The decline in births is part of a downward trend noted both in Ohio and nationally, Miss Robinson said. There were 118 fewer births in the East Liverpool area last year than in 1961, she explained.

—:—

THE BIRTHS included 592 girls and 559 boys with 13 sets of twins. The twins included four sets of boys, six of girls and three mixed.

There were 8,702 patients discharged, including 294 deaths and 20 stillbirths.

The overall occupancy was 80 per cent with 51 per cent in the maternity section and 92 per cent for medical and surgical care.

There were 6,228 using the emergency room, Miss Robinson said, but not all were emergencies. The figure includes those coming to the hospital for dressings and casts.

A total of 2,707 operations were performed compared to 2,543 in 1961. Operations last year included 797 major, with 59 caesarian sections and 1,910 minor operations.

THE LABORATORY conducted 79,016 tests and provided 756 blood transfusions while the X-ray department processed 10,418 patients with 35,575 films and 2,264 fluoroscopic examinations.

A total of 198,945 meals were served to patients and personnel and the laundry processed 534,019 pounds of flat work and 23,497 pounds of individual pieces, including gowns, caps and uniforms. Housekeeping service hours totaled 56,711 or 7,089 days.

Nursing service days totaled 46,602, including 20,836 by registered nurses, 18,951 by nurses' aides and 5,890 by student nurses. Private duty nurses accounted for 925 days.

The Gray Ladies of the Red Cross Chapter provided 8,130 hours of personal service. Three classes were held with the most recent one for Junior Gray Ladies over 16.

Not only are the girls helpful to patients, but the project creates interest in the nursing profession and constructive participation for juniors, she said.

Martins Ferry Slaps 11th Setback On Locals; East Invades

Dean Cline, being heralded for all-state honors and averaging almost 23 points per game, was held to just two points Friday night as East Liverpool was smothered at Martins Ferry, 67-41.

The Potters kept in step with the Purple Riders for the first half, trailing only 26-22 at halftime. The third quarter broke the Potters back when Martins Ferry outscored them 18-6. In that period, the Potters only hit two of 15 shots.

TONIGHT East Liverpool, which now stands in with a 5-11 record, plays its final home game of the season against Youngstown East. The Youngstown squad dropped a 62-48 decision to Woodrow Wilson last night and will bring a 9-8 record here.

Cline was stopped cold from the field at Ferry and had to settle with a pair of foul shots for his night's work. He managed to get enough shots away but was guarded closely throughout the contest by Mike Lucas, a 5-10 performer.

THE RIDERS defense also collapsed around the Potters leading scorer to hold him to his lowest point total of the season.

The 41 points also represent the second lowest output of the season by the Potters. They scored only 39 in a loss at Alliance early in the season.

While Cline was suffering his worst night on the basketball court, the Riders' leading scorer, Tony Bumbico, 5-9 captain, fired 28 points through the nets hitting well from the outside.

—:—

LUCAS was the only other Ferry starter in the double figures with 12.

Frank McComas, 5-11 junior, took scoring honors for the Potters with 17, representing one of his best efforts of the campaign.

In fact, McComas had the first seven points for the Potters, boosting the Blue and White to a 7-6 lead with three minutes remaining in the first quarter.

—:—

GOALS by Lucas and Bumbico put Martins Ferry in front and the home team led at the end of the first period, 12-9. The Riders stayed in front the rest of the way and took a 26-22 halftime edge and a 44-28 advantage at the end of the three quarters.

The Potters were way off the mark, hitting only 20 per cent of their shots in making 17 of 65. Ferry fired only 37 per cent, but hit on 17 of 38 during the second half.

Coach George Milby's Riders now stand 10-7 for the season.

The Martins Ferry reserves nipped the Potters, 49-48, in the preliminary.

Cumberland Pressed To Nip Beavers

NEW CUMBERLAND — Beaver Local, carrying a 15-game losing streak, tried hard to snap it here Friday night before bowing to New Cumberland, 62-57.

The loss left the Beavers with a 1-16 mark and they close tonight at home facing West Branch. New Cumberland gained its 13th win in 19 starts.

Coach Tom McCall's Beavers jumped in front, 14-11, at the end of the first quarter, but fell behind, 33-26, at halftime and 46-38 after three periods.

The loss came in spite of a 22-point effort on the part of George Gaydos, who turned in one of his best scoring performances of the season.

The two teams were evenly matched in field goals with 23 apiece, but New Cumberland converted 16 of 33 fouls and Beaver Local showed 11 out of 20.

Sophomore Dennis Carnes tossed in 16 points for the Blue Raiders.

Baldwin Nets 20 Points; Coulter's 31 Sparks Upset Attempt

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

With virtually all hands turning in a steady game, Wellsville High's Tigers repulsed a determined upset bid by Toronto to post a 60-55 triumph Friday night at Toronto.

Coach Jack McDevitt's tall Tigers gained a repeat victory over the Red Knights in a fast-moving battle that was close most of the way and was marked by a drive to the front by Wellsville in the closing minutes.

AWARE that a victory might mean one of the seeded spots in the forthcoming Sectional AA tourney, the aroused Tigers came from behind in the late stages to win by the same margin as they did Jan. 4 at Wellsville.

Steve Baldwin, 6-5 pivot, pumped in 20 points in one of his best games in weeks for Wellsville and his rebounding also was sharp. It was the first time in the 20's for Baldwin since the first game with Toronto.

Also providing a big assist in the Tigers' 11th victory of the season were Milt Martin, who entered the lineup in the first period and was still there battling at the end, Ed Nelson, who hit 13 points, and hustling guard Jim Powell.

—:—

THE BENGALS, who have lost five, now are idle until a big weekend Feb. 22-23 when they tackle Weirton Madonna and Pittsburgh Central Catholic at Beacom Memorial gym. The Madonna game, originally set for tonight, was postponed because of winter sickness in Weirton.

Toronto (9-5) gave Wellsville plenty of trouble with junior guard Tom (Chip) Coulter virtually shooting the eyes out of the baskets.

COULTER, 5-8, collected 31 points in a great exhibition of shooting ability, frequently hitting on driving hooks and one-hand push shots from far in the backcourt.

The red-haired flash hit 13 of 29 shots and was an effective weapon for Toronto in just about every quarter but the final one, when he hurried his shots as the Red Knights attempted to overcome Wellsville's lead.

Getting away to a fast start, Toronto went in front by 16-7 late in the first quarter and held command until only 20 seconds remained in the third.

BALDWIN'S tip shot put Wellsville ahead, 46-44, as the third quarter closed, setting the stage for an exciting fourth period.

It opened with Coulter drilling in a push shot from the side for another tie at 46-46. After two free throws by Wellsville's Nelson, Coulter again hit two quick field goals to stake Toronto to a 50-48 lead. At this point the Red Knights lost one of their valuable rebounders, forward Lee Graubner, on personal fouls.

Wellsville's Andy Dash cut the Red Knight lead to only one point, 50-49, with 5:11 left, but Pellior of Toronto zinged in a shot from the backcourt and Coach Paul Kalivoda's squad stayed in front, 52-49.

THEN WELLSVILLE began to move. Nelson drove for a neat field goal to cut Toronto's lead to 52-51, then added a free throw to tie the score at 52-52 with 4:27 left.

Dash added another foul shot to put Wellsville in front, 53-52, with 3:51 remaining. The Tigers then seized a five point lead on quick goals by Nelson, who whipped in a jump shot from deep in the corner and Baldwin's layup with 2:39 left.

The Tigers maintained their advantage throughout the last few minutes despite missing shot after shot at the free throw line, something that has plagued them all season long.

COULTER, unstoppable at times because of his long-range artistry, got 31 points despite the hounding defensive work of Wellsville's Powell. The two were like shadows most of the game.

Adding some much - needed zip to Wellsville's defense was Martin, seeing more action against Toronto than any recent game. The 6-3 senior spelled Forrest Harris in the first quarter and went on to turn in a pleasing performance. Milt got seven points, although continuing to miss out on numerous opportunities at the foul stripe.

Wellsville, although shabby at the foul line (18 of 35) actually picked up the victory there as the Tigers were outgoaled by two from the floor. Toronto had 23 goals to 21 by Wellsville, and the Red Knights made nine of 13 free throws.

—:—

EACH TEAM enjoyed a better than average night in shooting. Wellsville hit 44 per cent (21 of 47) and Toronto 43 per cent (23 of 53). Toronto's Graubner and starter Dave Ralston were the game's only participants to accumulate five personal fouls.

McDevitt started a combine of Nelson, Baldwin, Powell, Harris and promising junior Terry Flesch. After scoring the game's first field goal, Flesch couldn't get the feel of the offensive pattern and was spelled for the rest of the game.

WELLSVILLE'S Reserves, plugging along without the services of Flesch, dropped a 44-35 decision to the Toronto Reserves in the preliminary.

It was a slow-starting game, with Toronto on top at halftime by only 13-8. Wellsville came back to tie at 25-25 at the end of three periods, but Toronto enjoyed a 19 point final quarter to win decisively.

Guards Lester Bennett and Jeff MacLean of Wellsville fouled out in the third quarter. Melvin Pullie led Coach Chick MacMillan's Tigers with 13 points, while Tom Betz hit seven. The reserves stand 12-4 with two games remaining.

Gone are the days of his brother Don "The Stilt" Spires, but a new Spires appeared in the spotlight Friday night in Stanton Local's 58-56 victory over Mingo Junction on the Stanton floor.

Larry Spires, a freshman, pitched in a basket from 12 feet away with 10 seconds to go and broke a 56-56 tie for Stanton's eighth win as the Red Raiders completed their 1962-63 schedule.

The two teams went into the fourth quarter tied at 43-43 and battled nip-and-tuck until Spires became the man of the hour with his deciding field goal.

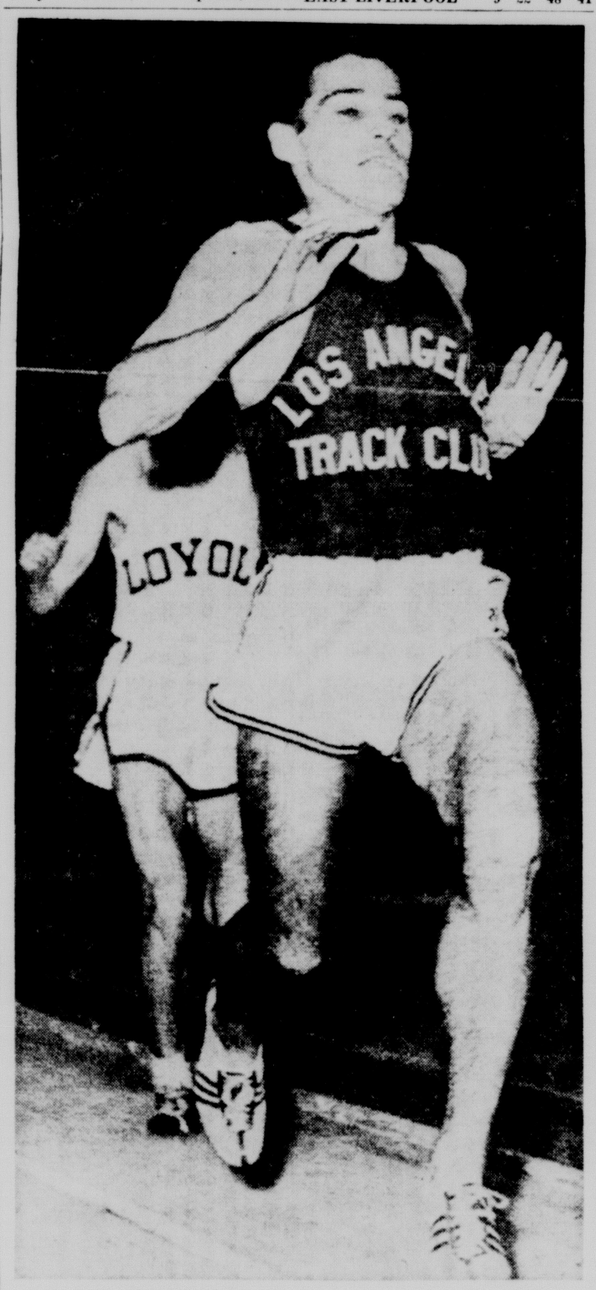

Scott Porter took scoring honors with 27 points, boosting his season total to 352 for the season, putting among the top five in the district race. Larry Mills wound up with 16 points and Spires added 10.

Archer Battles Tough Canadian In Bout On TV

NEW YORK (AP)—Joey Archer, the fancy dan boxer and sixth ranking middleweight contender, and Blair Richardson, a Canadian newcomer with power in his mitts, clash tonight in a television fight at Madison Square Garden.

The once-beaten Archer of New York is a 2-1 favorite to beat back the challenge by the unranked, untested, Canadian middleweight champion.

The 10-rounder will be telecast nationally by ABC-TV, starting at 10 p.m., EST.

Archer is the big choice on his known ability against good fighters. He is a slick boxer with fast hands, a ramrod stiff jab and not too much power. The 25-year-old New Yorker has a 33-1 record and only seven knockouts.

Richardson, a 22-year-old resident of South Bar, Nova Scotia, is working his way through college with his fists. He has a 36-3-1 record, including 31 knockouts.

Sews Up District Scoring Title

Kress Has 34, Not Enough In Rebels, 60-53 Defeat

Big Jim Kress fired in 34 points and sewed up the district scoring title for the 1962-63 season, but that wasn't quite enough as Crestview bowed, 60-53, to a visiting Lake squad Friday night.

The loss ended Crestview's season as the Rebels wound up with a 12-6 record. Crestview played last night without the services of its No. 2 scorer Allen Cobourn who was ill with the flu.

The total by Kress Friday night pushed his season scoring mark to 504 points and he ended with an average of 28 points per game.

Lake, a Stark County team, led at halftime, 31-29, but managed a 42-37 advantage after three quarters.

Martins Ferry Slaps 11th Setback On Locals; East Invades

Dean Cline, being heralded for all-state honors and averaging almost 23 points per game, was held to just two points Friday night as East Liverpool was smothered at Martins Ferry, 67-41.

The Potters kept in step with the Purple Riders for the first half, trailing only 26-22 at halftime. The third quarter broke the Potters back when Martins Ferry outscored them 18-6. In that period, the Potters only hit two of 15 shots.

TONIGHT East Liverpool, which now stands in with a 5-11 record, plays its final home game of the season against Youngstown East. The Youngstown squad dropped a 62-48 decision to Woodrow Wilson last night and will bring a 9-8 record here.

Cline was stopped cold from the field at Ferry and had to settle with a pair of foul shots for his night's work. He managed to get enough shots away but was guarded closely throughout the contest by Mike Lucas, a 5-10 performer.

THE RIDERS defense also collapsed around the Potters leading scorer to hold him to his lowest point total of the season.

The 41 points also represent the second lowest output of the season by the Potters. They scored only 39 in a loss at Alliance early in the season.

While Cline was suffering his worst night on the basketball court, the Riders' leading scorer, Tony Bumbico, 5-9 captain, fired 28 points through the nets hitting well from the outside.

—:—

LUCAS was the only other Ferry starter in the double figures with 12.

Frank McComas, 5-11 junior, took scoring honors for the Potters with 17, representing one of his best efforts of the campaign.

In fact, McComas had the first seven points for the Potters, boosting the Blue and White to a 7-6 lead with three minutes remaining in the first quarter.

—:—

GOALS by Lucas and Bumbico put Martins Ferry in front and the home team led at the end of the first period, 12-9. The Riders stayed in front the rest of the way and took a 26-22 halftime edge and a 44-28 advantage at the end of the three quarters.

The Potters were way off the mark, hitting only 20 per cent of their shots in making 17 of 65. Ferry fired only 37 per cent, but hit on 17 of 38 during the second half.

Coach George Milby's Riders now stand 10-7 for the season.

The Martins Ferry reserves nipped the Potters, 49-48, in the preliminary.

Baldwin Nets 20 Points; Coulter's 31 Sparks Upset Attempt

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

With virtually all hands turning in a steady game, Wellsville High's Tigers repulsed a determined upset bid by Toronto to post a 60-55 triumph Friday night at Toronto.

Coach Jack McDevitt's tall Tigers gained a repeat victory over the Red Knights in a fast-moving battle that was close most of the way and was marked by a drive to the front by Wellsville in the closing minutes.

AWARE that a victory might mean one of the seeded spots in the forthcoming Sectional AA tourney, the aroused Tigers came from behind in the late stages to win by the same margin as they did Jan. 4 at Wellsville.

Steve Baldwin, 6-5 pivot, pumped in 20 points in one of his best games in weeks for Wellsville and his rebounding also was sharp. It was the first time in the 20's for Baldwin since the first game with Toronto.

Also providing a big assist in the Tigers' 11th victory of the season were Milt Martin, who entered the lineup in the first period and was still there battling at the end, Ed Nelson, who hit 13 points, and hustling guard Jim Powell.

—:—

THE BENGALS, who have lost five, now are idle until a big weekend Feb. 22-23 when they tackle Weirton Madonna and Pittsburgh Central Catholic at Beacom Memorial gym. The Madonna game, originally set for tonight, was postponed because of winter sickness in Weirton.

Toronto (9-5) gave Wellsville plenty of trouble with junior guard Tom (Chip) Coulter virtually shooting the eyes out of the baskets.

COULTER, 5-8, collected 31 points in a great exhibition of shooting ability, frequently hitting on driving hooks and one-hand push shots from far in the backcourt.

The red-haired flash hit 13 of 29 shots and was an effective weapon for Toronto in just about every quarter but the final one, when he hurried his shots as the Red Knights attempted to overcome Wellsville's lead.

Getting away to a fast start, Toronto went in front by 16-7 late in the first quarter and held command until only 20 seconds remained in the third.

BALDWIN'S tip shot put Wellsville ahead, 46-44, as the third quarter closed, setting the stage for an exciting fourth period.

It opened with Coulter drilling in a push shot from the side for another tie at 46-46. After two free throws by Wellsville's Nelson, Coulter again hit two quick field goals to stake Toronto to a 50-48 lead. At this point the Red Knights lost one of their valuable rebounders, forward Lee Graubner, on personal fouls.

Wellsville's Andy Dash cut the Red Knight lead to only one point, 50-49, with 5:11 left, but Pellior of Toronto zinged in a shot from the backcourt and Coach Paul Kalivoda's squad stayed in front, 52-49.

THEN WELLSVILLE began to move. Nelson drove for a neat field goal to cut Toronto's lead to 52-51, then added a free throw to tie the score at 52-52 with 4:27 left.

Dash added another foul shot to put Wellsville in front, 53-52, with 3:51 remaining. The Tigers then seized a five point lead on quick goals by Nelson, who whipped in a jump shot from deep in the corner and Baldwin's layup with 2:39 left.

The Tigers maintained their advantage throughout the last few minutes despite missing shot after shot at the free throw line, something that has plagued them all season long.

COULTER, unstoppable at times because of his long-range artistry, got 31 points despite the hounding defensive work of Wellsville's Powell. The two were like shadows most of the game.

Adding some much - needed zip to Wellsville's defense was Martin, seeing more action against Toronto than any recent game. The 6-3 senior spelled Forrest Harris in the first quarter and went on to turn in a pleasing performance. Milt got seven points, although continuing to miss out on numerous opportunities at the foul stripe.

Wellsville, although shabby at the foul line (18 of 35) actually picked up the victory there as the Tigers were outgoaled by two from the floor. Toronto had 23 goals to 21 by Wellsville, and the Red Knights made nine of 13 free throws.

—:—

EACH TEAM enjoyed a better than average night in shooting. Wellsville hit 44 per cent (21 of 47) and Toronto 43 per cent (23 of 53). Toronto's Graubner and starter Dave Ralston were the game's only participants to accumulate five personal fouls.

McDevitt started a combine of Nelson, Baldwin, Powell, Harris and promising junior Terry Flesch. After scoring the game's first field goal, Flesch couldn't get the feel of the offensive pattern and was spelled for the rest of the game.

WELLSVILLE'S Reserves, plugging along without the services of Flesch, dropped a 44-35 decision to the Toronto Reserves in the preliminary.

It was a slow-starting game, with Toronto on top at halftime by only 13-8. Wellsville came back to tie at 25-25 at the end of three periods, but Toronto enjoyed a 19 point final quarter to win decisively.

Guards Lester Bennett and Jeff MacLean of Wellsville fouled out in the third quarter. Melvin Pullie led Coach Chick MacMillan's Tigers with 13 points, while Tom Betz hit seven. The reserves stand 12-4 with two games remaining.

Richardson, a 22-year-old resident of South Bar, Nova Scotia, is working his way through college with his fists. He has a 36-3-1 record, including 31 knockouts.

Big Jim Kress fired in 34 points and sewed up the district scoring title for the 1962-63 season, but that wasn't quite enough as Crestview bowed, 60-53, to a visiting Lake squad Friday night.

The loss ended Crestview's season as the Rebels wound up with a 12-6 record. Crestview played last night without the services of its No. 2 scorer Allen Cobourn who was ill with the flu.

Midland Beats Rochester, 50-45; Nears League Title

Triumph Tuesday Could Wrap It Up

By ANDY NUZZO

The Midland Leopards took a firmer grip one half of the Section 8 crown last night. While Midland was struggling to get past a fired up Rochester Ram outfit, 50-45, Beaver applied the blow that nearly ended the section race.

The Bobcats took the measure of the second-place New Brighton Lions by a convincing 61-45 count.

The Lions, who had pulled within one game of Midland when they handed the Leopards their first section defeat of the year at New Brighton on Tuesday, have now slipped two games behind with only two games left to play.

Midland can win their second straight section crown under Hank Kuzma by defeating the Riverside Panthers at Riverside on Tuesday or the Monaca Indians at home on Friday.

Midland now stands 11-1 in section play and New Brighton is 9-3. Rochester has split even in 12 section tilts.

Bill Sallis, 6-2 senior forward of the Leopards, carried them to their win over the Rams. He scored half of Midland's 50 points and led the Leopards on the boards with 13 rebounds.

Sallis meshed seven field goals and 11 of 13 free throws for 25 points. He canned 13 of the 24 points scored by the Leopards in the first half.

It was Sallis who put Midland in front to stay in the waning moments of the first half after Rochester had held the lead for the better part of the first two periods.

With 1:26 left in the first half Sallis let fly with a jumper from the key that put Midland in front, 24-22. They took this lead to the dressing room at halftime.

In the third quarter Midland still had trouble shaking the Rams until they applied a full-court press and Sallis ripped the cords for six consecutive points with some two minutes remaining in the period.

The Leopards took a 40-31 lead into the final period of play. With 2:18 left in the game Gary Perkins layed in a shot that put the Leopards in front by ten points, 49-39, which was their biggest margin.

Rochester managed one field goal and three free throws while Midland sank one charity toss to cut the Leopard victory margin to five points.

Jim Peel of Rochester was the only player to leave the game because of personal fouls. He departed with 7:12 left in the final period.

Leading the Rochester quint was junior center Larry Coleman, who bagged four fielders and eight of 12 free throws for 16 points. He also led the Rams in rebounding with eight.

Senior Tim Rowe added 10 markers to the Ram attack. All of his points came from the field.

Both teams shot a miserable 24 per cent from the field. Midland hit on 15 of 59 shots and Rochester managed only 14 of 54.

In the reserve tilt, Ed Olkowski's Midland Jayvees had little trouble defeating the Rochester subs, 57-32. Joe Prodonovich and Mike Krivoshia led Midland with 10 points apiece.

Reds Sign Veteran Pitcher Turk Lown

CINCINNATI (AP) — Veteran pitcher Turk Lown is back in a Cincinnati Reds uniform.

The Reds announced Friday they had obtained the 38-year-old right-hander's contract conditionally and that Lown would train with them this spring. Lown, who played for the Reds briefly in 1958 before being traded, posted a 7-5 record last season with the Chicago White Sox.

Mel Queen also sent in his contract. The 20-year-old outfielder was the 26th Red to do so. He batted .275 last year for Macon of the Sally League.

Greenford In 68-63 Thriller

Salineville's Stout Bid Falls Short In 15th Loss

SALINEVILLE — Coach Al Girone almost saw his Salineville Indians pull one of the biggest surprises of the season but fell short in dropping a tight 68-63, decision to Greenford, the 12th ranked team in the Class A poll, here Friday night.

Girone started four sophomores and a junior against the strong Greenford five and the young Indians seemed to come of age last night.

Salineville led 15-14 at the end of the first period and only trailed by one, 24-23, at halftime. Greenford pulled away in the third period, 45-37, but the game Salineville five came roaring back to tie the count at 59-59 with about two minutes remaining before Greenford shot back in front.

Tom McGuire, the only junior on the starting five, led the way with 19 points while Glen Pitts added 16 and sophomored Glen Stewart hit for 12.

Rich Arnold and Dave Tyo combined to lead Greenford with 20 points each.

The defeat leaves Salineville with 2-15 mark as the Indians close their season tonight at home entertaining Conotton Valley.

The Greenford reserves won, 50-38.

Art Mahaffey Signs, Hopes For 20 Games

By The Associated Press

Except for Robin Roberts, the Philadelphia Phillies haven't had a 20-game winning pitcher since Grover Cleveland Alexander won 33 in 1917.

Art Mahaffey hopes to change that this year.

The signing of the big right-hander was among the highlights of major league baseball doings on Friday.

Mahaffey, a 6-foot-2, 200-pounder, seemed a cinch to win 20 for the Phils last year. He reached No. 19 on Sept. 16. But then missed in four tries for No. 20 and wound up 19-14.

"Sure, it bothered me," Mahaffey said recently. "I wanted to win 20 so badly. Still it was a pretty good season and my goal is to win 20 this year."

The Phils, who did not disclose the amount of Mahaffey's contract, also announced the signing of relief pitcher Jack Baldschun, a 12-game winner in 1962, and catcher Clay Dalrymple, who batted .276 and drove in 54 runs.

Other signings announced Friday included veteran pitchers Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves, Jay Hook of the New York Mets and Sam Jones of the Los Angeles Angels, and outfielder Al Smith of the Baltimore Orioles.

Wichita Hoping To 'Shock' Cincy

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wichita's task tonight is just as difficult as it sounds. The Shockers are going to try to corner Cincinnati in the Roundhouse.

The Roundhouse is the nickname of the Wichita Field House, site of tonight's clash between unbeaten Cincinnati, the nation's top-ranked college basketball team, and the hopeful Shockers.

"We feel our chances of winning are good," Wichita coach Ralph Miller said. "Talent-wise this club doesn't overpower us. But we certainly will have to play our best ball game to win."

Cincinnati goes into the game with a 20-0 record this season, two straight NCAA championships under its belt and a 37-game winning string, which equals the third longest ever by a major college.

Wichita, however, snapped a Cincinnati string of 27 last season —the last time the Bearcats visited the Roundhouse—and Miller insists it can be done again.

The Shockers, 15-6 for the season, may be without the services of Wayne Miller, their No. 2 scorer. He's carrying a bruised shoulder and his status won't be determined until game time.

Cincinnati, led by Ron Bonham and Tom Thacker, whipped Wichita 63-50 in Cincinnati earlier this season, but the return match rates as the major stumbling block remaining on the Bearcats' regular season schedule.

Fifth-ranked Arizona State University stormed from behind and beat Utah 83-78 at Salt Lake City, California surprised tenth-ranked Stanford 61-60 at Stanford and Oregon upset Oregon State 54-50 in Corvallis, Ore., in major action Friday night.

Yale knocked Cornell out of the Ivy League lead 81-75 in overtime. Princeton and Penn moved to a tie for the top, Princeton crushing Harvard 74-45 and Penn edging Dartmouth 65-63 in overtime. Brown beat Columbia 87-72.

North Carolina State tripped up Clemson 66-50, North Carolina held off South Carolina 78-74, and Fordham nipped Boston College 59-58.

In the west, Air Force edged Utah State 66-65, Texas whipped Texas Christian 75-59 pushing the Longhorn Southwest Conference record to 8-0, while Idaho beat Idaho State 83-76.

Beatty Cracks Own Mile Mark, Eyes Snell Record

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Beatty, who is not one to shoot for the impossible, confided today that his next ambition is to break Peter Snell's 3:54.4 world mile record.

"And," added the little running wizard from the Los Angeles Track Club, "I hope to do it this year."

Beatty shared the spotlight in the New York Athletic Club meet Friday night with Russia's Valery Brumel when he smashed his own indoor mile record with a fine 3:58.6 performance. Young Tom O'Hara of Loyola of Chicago, who pushed Beatty all the way, was caught in 3:59.2.

As for Brumel, he pushed his indoor high jump record to 7 feet, 4 inches, adding a half inch to the mark he set two years ago. He missed once at 7-2, but when the bar was upped to 7-4, over he sailed on the first try—almost like a swan landing in a lake.

But he wasn't particularly pleased. He missed his No. 1 rival, John Thomas, who beat him for the first time last week.

"It's too bad John was not here,' he said. "We both would do better with the competition."

Thomas, along with broad jumper Ralph Boston, competed in the San Francisco meet Friday night.

Ter-Ovanesyan wound up winning the broad jump with a so-so leap of 25-6¾.

Beatty, who led most of the way while a Madison Square Garden crowd of 15,176 yelled itself limp, was high in his praise of O'Hara.

"He deserves a great deal of credit," said the 28-year-old 5-6 insurance adjuster. "He has great heart and lacks only experience.

So now the indoor sub-four-minute-mile club has three members —Beatty, O'Hara and East German Seigfried Herrmann. Beatty's former indoor record was 3:58.9, set last year. Beatty's quarters were :59.9, 2:00.2 and 3:00.7.

Rolando Cruz of Villanova won the pole vault with a 16-footer, his second in two weeks, and 272-pound Gary Gubner of New York University captured the shot put with a 63-4½ heave. Bill Crothers and Bruce Kidd of the East York Track Club, Toronto, remained undefeated for the season. Crothers won the Matt Halpin half in 1:51, and Kidd ran the second fastest indoor two-mile of all time, 8:39. Only Murray Halberg's 8:34.4 is better.

Ex-Big League Pitcher 'Bump' Hadley Dies

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — Irving (Bump) Hadley—dogged by shadows like the errant pitch which ended the playing career of Hall of Fame catcher Mickey Cochrane—is dead.

A major league pitcher for 16 years, Hadley died Friday of a heart ailment in Lynn Hospital at the age of 59. He had been a resident of nearby Swampscott.

From 1926 through 1940, the 5-foot-11, 180-pound right-hander performed for Washington, St. Louis, Chicago, New York and Philadelphia in the American League and had a brief stint with the New York Giants of the National loop in 1941.

Hadley's lifetime mound record of 161-165 included a dark day in May of 1937 when he accidentally hit Detroit's Cochrane on the head with 3-2 pitch. Cochrane was near death for many days and when he recovered he became a non-playing manager for the Tigers until he was fired in 1939.

Hadley had radio and television sports programs in the Boston area following his baseball career and also served as a scout for the Yankees.

It was as a New York pitcher in Yankee Stadium that Hadley hit Cochrane.

Hadley broke in with the Washington Senators in the last years of Walter Johnson. As a Senator in 1931, he led the American League in most appearances by a pitcher with 55.

"Baseball is a good life in the majors, regardless of where you are playing," Hadley said.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Hadley is survived by his widow, Jessica, a son, Irving L., a soldier stationed at West Point, and a daughter, Mrs. Henry D. Stephenson of Medfield, Mass.

The University of Kentucky played its first night football game in Lexington, Oct. 4, 1930 against Sewanee.

Midland Beats Rochester, 50-45; Nears League Title

Triumph Tuesday Could Wrap It Up

By ANDY NUZZO

The Midland Leopards took a firmer grip one half of the Section 8 crown last night. While Midland was struggling to get past a fired up Rochester Ram outfit, 50-45, Beaver applied the blow that nearly ended the section race.

The Bobcats took the measure of the second-place New Brighton Lions by a convincing 61-45 count.

The Lions, who had pulled within one game of Midland when they handed the Leopards their first section defeat of the year at New Brighton on Tuesday, have now slipped two games behind with only two games left to play.

Midland can win their second straight section crown under Hank Kuzma by defeating the Riverside Panthers at Riverside on Tuesday or the Monaca Indians at home on Friday.

Midland now stands 11-1 in section play and New Brighton is 9-3. Rochester has split even in 12 section tilts.

Bill Sallis, 6-2 senior forward of the Leopards, carried them to their win over the Rams. He scored half of Midland's 50 points and led the Leopards on the boards with 13 rebounds.

Sallis meshed seven field goals and 11 of 13 free throws for 25 points. He canned 13 of the 24 points scored by the Leopards in the first half.

It was Sallis who put Midland in front to stay in the waning moments of the first half after Rochester had held the lead for the better part of the first two periods.

With 1:26 left in the first half Sallis let fly with a jumper from the key that put Midland in front, 24-22. They took this lead to the dressing room at halftime.

In the third quarter Midland still had trouble shaking the Rams until they applied a full-court press and Sallis ripped the cords for six consecutive points with some two minutes remaining in the period.

The Leopards took a 40-31 lead into the final period of play. With 2:18 left in the game Gary Perkins layed in a shot that put the Leopards in front by ten points, 49-39, which was their biggest margin.

Rochester managed one field goal and three free throws while Midland sank one charity toss to cut the Leopard victory margin to five points.

Jim Peel of Rochester was the only player to leave the game because of personal fouls. He departed with 7:12 left in the final period.

Leading the Rochester quint was junior center Larry Coleman, who bagged four fielders and eight of 12 free throws for 16 points. He also led the Rams in rebounding with eight.

Senior Tim Rowe added 10 markers to the Ram attack. All of his points came from the field.

Both teams shot a miserable 24 per cent from the field. Midland hit on 15 of 59 shots and Rochester managed only 14 of 54.

In the reserve tilt, Ed Olkowski's Midland Jayvees had little trouble defeating the Rochester subs, 57-32. Joe Prodonovich and Mike Krivoshia led Midland with 10 points apiece.

Greenford In 68-63 Thriller

Salineville's Stout Bid Falls Short In 15th Loss

SALINEVILLE — Coach Al Girone almost saw his Salineville Indians pull one of the biggest surprises of the season but fell short in dropping a tight 68-63, decision to Greenford, the 12th ranked team in the Class A poll, here Friday night.

Girone started four sophomores and a junior against the strong Greenford five and the young Indians seemed to come of age last night.

Salineville led 15-14 at the end of the first period and only trailed by one, 24-23, at halftime. Greenford pulled away in the third period, 45-37, but the game Salineville five came roaring back to tie the count at 59-59 with about two minutes remaining before Greenford shot back in front.

Tom McGuire, the only junior on the starting five, led the way with 19 points while Glen Pitts added 16 and sophomored Glen Stewart hit for 12.

Rich Arnold and Dave Tyo combined to lead Greenford with 20 points each.

The defeat leaves Salineville with 2-15 mark as the Indians close their season tonight at home entertaining Conotton Valley.

The Greenford reserves won, 50-38.

Art Mahaffey Signs, Hopes For 20 Games

By The Associated Press

Except for Robin Roberts, the Philadelphia Phillies haven't had a 20-game winning pitcher since Grover Cleveland Alexander won 33 in 1917.

Art Mahaffey hopes to change that this year.

The signing of the big right-hander was among the highlights of major league baseball doings on Friday.

Mahaffey, a 6-foot-2, 200-pounder, seemed a cinch to win 20 for the Phils last year. He reached No. 19 on Sept. 16. But then missed in four tries for No. 20 and wound up 19-14.

"Sure, it bothered me," Mahaffey said recently. "I wanted to win 20 so badly. Still it was a pretty good season and my goal is to win 20 this year."

The Phils, who did not disclose the amount of Mahaffey's contract, also announced the signing of relief pitcher Jack Baldschun, a 12-game winner in 1962, and catcher Clay Dalrymple, who batted .276 and drove in 54 runs.

Other signings announced Friday included veteran pitchers Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves, Jay Hook of the New York Mets and Sam Jones of the Los Angeles Angels, and outfielder Al Smith of the Baltimore Orioles.

Wichita Hoping To 'Shock' Cincy

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wichita's task tonight is just as difficult as it sounds. The Shockers are going to try to corner Cincinnati in the Roundhouse.

The Roundhouse is the nickname of the Wichita Field House, site of tonight's clash between unbeaten Cincinnati, the nation's top-ranked college basketball team, and the hopeful Shockers.

"We feel our chances of winning are good," Wichita coach Ralph Miller said. "Talent-wise this club doesn't overpower us. But we certainly will have to play our best ball game to win."

Cincinnati goes into the game with a 20-0 record this season, two straight NCAA championships under its belt and a 37-game winning string, which equals the third longest ever by a major college.

Wichita, however, snapped a Cincinnati string of 27 last season —the last time the Bearcats visited the Roundhouse—and Miller insists it can be done again.

The Shockers, 15-6 for the season, may be without the services of Wayne Miller, their No. 2 scorer. He's carrying a bruised shoulder and his status won't be determined until game time.

Cincinnati, led by Ron Bonham and Tom Thacker, whipped Wichita 63-50 in Cincinnati earlier this season, but the return match rates as the major stumbling block remaining on the Bearcats' regular season schedule.

Fifth-ranked Arizona State University stormed from behind and beat Utah 83-78 at Salt Lake City, California surprised tenth-ranked Stanford 61-60 at Stanford and Oregon upset Oregon State 54-50 in Corvallis, Ore., in major action Friday night.

Yale knocked Cornell out of the Ivy League lead 81-75 in overtime. Princeton and Penn moved to a tie for the top, Princeton crushing Harvard 74-45 and Penn edging Dartmouth 65-63 in overtime. Brown beat Columbia 87-72.

North Carolina State tripped up Clemson 66-50, North Carolina held off South Carolina 78-74, and Fordham nipped Boston College 59-58.

In the west, Air Force edged Utah State 66-65, Texas whipped Texas Christian 75-59 pushing the Longhorn Southwest Conference record to 8-0, while Idaho beat Idaho State 83-76.

Beatty Cracks Own Mile Mark, Eyes Snell Record

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Beatty, who is not one to shoot for the impossible, confided today that his next ambition is to break Peter Snell's 3:54.4 world mile record.

"And," added the little running wizard from the Los Angeles Track Club, "I hope to do it this year."

Beatty shared the spotlight in the New York Athletic Club meet Friday night with Russia's Valery Brumel when he smashed his own indoor mile record with a fine 3:58.6 performance. Young Tom O'Hara of Loyola of Chicago, who pushed Beatty all the way, was caught in 3:59.2.

As for Brumel, he pushed his indoor high jump record to 7 feet, 4 inches, adding a half inch to the mark he set two years ago. He missed once at 7-2, but when the bar was upped to 7-4, over he sailed on the first try—almost like a swan landing in a lake.

But he wasn't particularly pleased. He missed his No. 1 rival, John Thomas, who beat him for the first time last week.

"It's too bad John was not here,' he said. "We both would do better with the competition."

Thomas, along with broad jumper Ralph Boston, competed in the San Francisco meet Friday night.

Ter-Ovanesyan wound up winning the broad jump with a so-so leap of 25-6¾.

Beatty, who led most of the way while a Madison Square Garden crowd of 15,176 yelled itself limp, was high in his praise of O'Hara.

"He deserves a great deal of credit," said the 28-year-old 5-6 insurance adjuster. "He has great heart and lacks only experience.

So now the indoor sub-four-minute-mile club has three members —Beatty, O'Hara and East German Seigfried Herrmann. Beatty's former indoor record was 3:58.9, set last year. Beatty's quarters were :59.9, 2:00.2 and 3:00.7.

Rolando Cruz of Villanova won the pole vault with a 16-footer, his second in two weeks, and 272-pound Gary Gubner of New York University captured the shot put with a 63-4½ heave. Bill Crothers and Bruce Kidd of the East York Track Club, Toronto, remained undefeated for the season. Crothers won the Matt Halpin half in 1:51, and Kidd ran the second fastest indoor two-mile of all time, 8:39. Only Murray Halberg's 8:34.4 is better.

Ex-Big League Pitcher 'Bump' Hadley Dies

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — Irving (Bump) Hadley—dogged by shadows like the errant pitch which ended the playing career of Hall of Fame catcher Mickey Cochrane—is dead.

A major league pitcher for 16 years, Hadley died Friday of a heart ailment in Lynn Hospital at the age of 59. He had been a resident of nearby Swampscott.

From 1926 through 1940, the 5-foot-11, 180-pound right-hander performed for Washington, St. Louis, Chicago, New York and Philadelphia in the American League and had a brief stint with the New York Giants of the National loop in 1941.

Hadley's lifetime mound record of 161-165 included a dark day in May of 1937 when he accidentally hit Detroit's Cochrane on the head with 3-2 pitch. Cochrane was near death for many days and when he recovered he became a non-playing manager for the Tigers until he was fired in 1939.

Hadley had radio and television sports programs in the Boston area following his baseball career and also served as a scout for the Yankees.

It was as a New York pitcher in Yankee Stadium that Hadley hit Cochrane.

Hadley broke in with the Washington Senators in the last years of Walter Johnson. As a Senator in 1931, he led the American League in most appearances by a pitcher with 55.

"Baseball is a good life in the majors, regardless of where you are playing," Hadley said.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Hadley is survived by his widow, Jessica, a son, Irving L., a soldier stationed at West Point, and a daughter, Mrs. Henry D. Stephenson of Medfield, Mass.

The University of Kentucky played its first night football game in Lexington, Oct. 4, 1930 against Sewanee.

Plain Dealer Guild Accepts Pact Proposal

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Newspaper Guild, one of five striking unions, was a step closer today to ending its dispute with the city's two daily newspapers after members of the Plain Dealer unit voted to accept conditionally the latest management contract proposal.

However, the craft unions have reported no progress in their talks which are scheduled to resume next week.

Meanwhile, the Teamsters, who started the strike now in its 79th day, were to return to the bargaining table today. They reportedly are near a contract settlement with publishers of the morning Plain Dealer and the afternoon Cleveland Press & News.

The Plain Dealer unit, in a standing vote estimated at 115-14, Friday favored accepting the management proposal provided the two-year contract, is made retroactive to Nov. 1, when the old contract expired.

The employes set as another condition that no striking Guildsmen should lose their jobs, including employes of an educational promotion department which the Plain Dealer anounced last month it was eliminating as a cost-cutting measure. They also requested that there be further bargaining on the money package.

Guild leaders said the Plain Dealer money package falls 25 cents short of the $10, two-year package in contracts the publishers reached earlier with the non-striking pressmen and paper handlers unions.

Retroactivity and job security were the conditions the Press & News unit added to their acceptance vote on the proposal Wednesday. Management spokesmen indicated they were prepared to meet those two conditions.

Guild negotiators said they estimated the wage package offered the Guild at about $9.35 over the two years at the Press & News and about $9.75 at the Plain Dealer on a per-man-per week basis. Top newsman minimum in the old Guild contract was $145 after five years' experience.

Representatives of the Guild and management are expected to negotiate the revisions in the publishers' proposal when they meet Monday for another bargaining session.

Murderer Of 2 Women Dies In Electric Chair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Robert H. Griffin, a father of five who shot two women to death, died Friday night in the electric chair at Ohio Penitentiary. In his hand was a small wooden crucifix, symbolic of the Roman Catholic Church whose faith he had espoused only a few hours earlier.

Griffin, 44, of Cleveland, paid with his life for the shotgun killing in 1960 of a 35-year-old girl friend, Mary Lee Williams.

The Negro man said that while drunk he overheard the Williams woman and others planning to kill him. Griffin also had been convicted of second-degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Mattie Benjamin, 42, whom he killed moments before the Williams woman.

Griffin, who converted to Roman Catholicism and was baptized only 11 hours before his death, became the 314th person to die in the electric chair at the state prison. He ate a hearty meal of fried chicken and made his final confession to the acting prison chaplain, the Rev. Brenden Reece. Then he entered the death chamber, reciting prayers in a low voice after the chaplain.

New York's richest jumping event of 1963 will be the $50,000 added Temple Gwathmey Steeplechase to be held Oct. 25 at Belmont Park. It's for 4-year-olds and upward at 2½ miles.

Blind World War I Veteran, Who Lived In Jail, Claimed

ROME, Ga. (AP) — Wilmer A. Summerville, an old soldier who lived in jail because he had nowhere else to go, is dead.

Summerville, 73, blind World War I veteran, died Friday at a private nursing home of a heart ailment. But he died knowing that someone cared.

The veteran spent 46 days in the Floyd County Jail because he had been refused admittance to government hospitals and could not afford private care. Sheriff Joe Adams came to Summerville's aid Dec. 20 and gave him a place to stay in the jail while the sheriff tried to arrange for his care.

He remained in jail until last week when Mrs. Christine Perry, operator of a nursing home at nearby Cedartown, read of his plight and offered to care for him free of charge.

Then he became ill. Doctors said he had suffered a heart attack Thursday. He died Friday with a smile on his lips.

"At the end I know he was happy," said Mrs. Perry. "He knew that somebody cared after all."

Funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. today, with burial in the family cemetery near here.

The sheriff said Summerville had been refused admittance to Veterans' Administration homes because the VA requires that a veteran inmate be able to care for himself to some degree. Since Summerville was blind and helpless, he could not qualify.

State Concludes Case In Belmont Sheriff's Trial

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The defense has its say today at the bribery trial of Belmont County Sheriff George E. Neff, and attorney Hugo Alexander indicated his presentation would be lengthy.

The state wound up its case against Neff Friday with testimony by deputies about two "fund raising" projects of the sheriff, one of them involving trucking firms in several states.

Alexander, who said earlier he would call 18 witnesses to the stand, said he probably would require most of today to refute those allegations as well as charges involving club payoff in Barnesville, a dry community. Alexander said he expects the trial to run into next week.

Among last witnesses for the state was Deputy Stanley Simoncic, who told of a Belmont County Sheriff's Benevolence Society, organized to sponsor a follies at Bellaire on Feb. 10, 1962.

The charges for which Neff is being tried do not involve these alleged operations, however. The four counts of his bribery indictment accuse him of requesting payoffs from the Elks, Eagles, American Legion, and Veterans of Foreign Wars Clubs in Barnesville in return for overlooking their beer sales.

Neff also is under indictment on a charge of embezzlement involving personal use of food bought by the county for jail prisoners.

Glenn To Give Space Suit To Smithsonian

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. will present his space suit to the Smithsonian Institution next Wednesday, the first anniversary of his triple earth orbit.

Glenn, first American to orbit the earth, also will give the Institution's National Air Museum the tiny American flag he carried on his mission.

His spacecraft, Friendship 7, on display at the Smithsonian since December, will be formally accepted at the ceremonies.

Seven of the nine fastest miles in thoroughbred racing history have been run in June.

Arraignment Set For 6 On Bogus Money Charges

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Youngstown attorney and five others will be arraigned Thursday on charges of possessing and passing counterfeit bills.

Named in federal grand jury indictments Friday were attorney Vincent P. Serman, 37; Lenine Strollo, 31, of Campbell; Nick Zappia, 48; Robert Armstrong, 19, of Youngstown; John P. Paladinich, 21, of Austintown, and Joseph Paladinich, 27, of Youngstown.

The Paladinichs are brothers and Armstrong is the son of a Youngstown policeman.

The six-count indictment accuses Serman, Strollo, Armstrong and John Paladinich with conspiring to sell or pass counterfeit $10 bills. Strollo, Serman and Paladinich also were charged with possessing a bogus $10 bill on Jan. 2, and with attempting to pass it at a Warren shopping center store.

Joseph Paladinich was accused in a separate indictment with passing a counterfeit $10 bill.

Four of those charged were arrested Monday night in Youngstown by treasury agents and police, who said they had worked together on the case since last month.

All were freed under bond but Zappia, who was held in lieu of $25,000 bond.

He'll Be Sure Train Has Diner Attached

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The next time Dr. John N. Sims takes a trip he'll make sure the train has a diner attached.

Sims, a faculty member of the Baptist Seminary School of Music, was returning with a friend from a concert at Mississippi College.

They boarded a train with one passenger coach up front but with no facilities for food. A stop was made at Paris, Tenn., and Sims sprinted for a snack bar 50 yards away.

The train pulled out and Sims, clutching a bag of sandwiches, made a desperate leap and landed on a flat car five lengths back. Then followed a hair-raising effort to make his way forward while the train picked up speed.

Hanging to the rods hobo style, he finally reached the coach, the bag of sandwiches gripped between his teeth.

FBI Cracks Car Theft Ring; Ohio Involved

LITTLE ROCK, ARK. (AP) — FBI agents say they have uncovered a car theft ring which stole most of the automobiles in the Akron, Ohio, area and fixed them up in Georgia for resale in Arkansas and Louisiana.

A used car salesman became suspicious after buying one of the cars, agents said. An investigation led to the arrest—on conspiracy and interstate transportation of stolen property warrants—of Joseph Francis Newman, Foster Imhoff and Darius Woody of Akron; William Charles Palmer of Tallmadge, Ohio, and Winfred Lee Angel, Roy Edward Paulson and D. L. Mooney of Hot Spring, Ark., agents said.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Bill K. Slanaker. God filled our home with hope and joy, when He gave us you our brown eyed baby boy. We never shall forget that day—we named William Keith, but called you Billy K. You made our home a happy place, and we wished that you could stay, but why God chose to call you home, we'll understand some day. We still have sweet memories of you, and that helps keep our sky more blue, but life has not been the same in any way, since you left this world four years ago today. — Sadly missed by father and mother, sister Bessie and brother Jim.

Plain Dealer Guild Accepts Pact Proposal

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Newspaper Guild, one of five striking unions, was a step closer today to ending its dispute with the city's two daily newspapers after members of the Plain Dealer unit voted to accept conditionally the latest management contract proposal.

However, the craft unions have reported no progress in their talks which are scheduled to resume next week.

Meanwhile, the Teamsters, who started the strike now in its 79th day, were to return to the bargaining table today. They reportedly are near a contract settlement with publishers of the morning Plain Dealer and the afternoon Cleveland Press & News.

The Plain Dealer unit, in a standing vote estimated at 115-14, Friday favored accepting the management proposal provided the two-year contract, is made retroactive to Nov. 1, when the old contract expired.

The employes set as another condition that no striking Guildsmen should lose their jobs, including employes of an educational promotion department which the Plain Dealer anounced last month it was eliminating as a cost-cutting measure. They also requested that there be further bargaining on the money package.

Guild leaders said the Plain Dealer money package falls 25 cents short of the $10, two-year package in contracts the publishers reached earlier with the non-striking pressmen and paper handlers unions.

Retroactivity and job security were the conditions the Press & News unit added to their acceptance vote on the proposal Wednesday. Management spokesmen indicated they were prepared to meet those two conditions.

Guild negotiators said they estimated the wage package offered the Guild at about $9.35 over the two years at the Press & News and about $9.75 at the Plain Dealer on a per-man-per week basis. Top newsman minimum in the old Guild contract was $145 after five years' experience.

Representatives of the Guild and management are expected to negotiate the revisions in the publishers' proposal when they meet Monday for another bargaining session.

Murderer Of 2 Women Dies In Electric Chair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Robert H. Griffin, a father of five who shot two women to death, died Friday night in the electric chair at Ohio Penitentiary. In his hand was a small wooden crucifix, symbolic of the Roman Catholic Church whose faith he had espoused only a few hours earlier.

Griffin, 44, of Cleveland, paid with his life for the shotgun killing in 1960 of a 35-year-old girl friend, Mary Lee Williams.

The Negro man said that while drunk he overheard the Williams woman and others planning to kill him. Griffin also had been convicted of second-degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Mattie Benjamin, 42, whom he killed moments before the Williams woman.

Griffin, who converted to Roman Catholicism and was baptized only 11 hours before his death, became the 314th person to die in the electric chair at the state prison. He ate a hearty meal of fried chicken and made his final confession to the acting prison chaplain, the Rev. Brenden Reece. Then he entered the death chamber, reciting prayers in a low voice after the chaplain.

New York's richest jumping event of 1963 will be the $50,000 added Temple Gwathmey Steeplechase to be held Oct. 25 at Belmont Park. It's for 4-year-olds and upward at 2½ miles.

Blind World War I Veteran, Who Lived In Jail, Claimed

ROME, Ga. (AP) — Wilmer A. Summerville, an old soldier who lived in jail because he had nowhere else to go, is dead.

Summerville, 73, blind World War I veteran, died Friday at a private nursing home of a heart ailment. But he died knowing that someone cared.

The veteran spent 46 days in the Floyd County Jail because he had been refused admittance to government hospitals and could not afford private care. Sheriff Joe Adams came to Summerville's aid Dec. 20 and gave him a place to stay in the jail while the sheriff tried to arrange for his care.

He remained in jail until last week when Mrs. Christine Perry, operator of a nursing home at nearby Cedartown, read of his plight and offered to care for him free of charge.

Then he became ill. Doctors said he had suffered a heart attack Thursday. He died Friday with a smile on his lips.

"At the end I know he was happy," said Mrs. Perry. "He knew that somebody cared after all."

Funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. today, with burial in the family cemetery near here.

The sheriff said Summerville had been refused admittance to Veterans' Administration homes because the VA requires that a veteran inmate be able to care for himself to some degree. Since Summerville was blind and helpless, he could not qualify.

State Concludes Case In Belmont Sheriff's Trial

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The defense has its say today at the bribery trial of Belmont County Sheriff George E. Neff, and attorney Hugo Alexander indicated his presentation would be lengthy.

The state wound up its case against Neff Friday with testimony by deputies about two "fund raising" projects of the sheriff, one of them involving trucking firms in several states.

Alexander, who said earlier he would call 18 witnesses to the stand, said he probably would require most of today to refute those allegations as well as charges involving club payoff in Barnesville, a dry community. Alexander said he expects the trial to run into next week.

Among last witnesses for the state was Deputy Stanley Simoncic, who told of a Belmont County Sheriff's Benevolence Society, organized to sponsor a follies at Bellaire on Feb. 10, 1962.

The charges for which Neff is being tried do not involve these alleged operations, however. The four counts of his bribery indictment accuse him of requesting payoffs from the Elks, Eagles, American Legion, and Veterans of Foreign Wars Clubs in Barnesville in return for overlooking their beer sales.

Neff also is under indictment on a charge of embezzlement involving personal use of food bought by the county for jail prisoners.

Glenn To Give Space Suit To Smithsonian

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. will present his space suit to the Smithsonian Institution next Wednesday, the first anniversary of his triple earth orbit.

Glenn, first American to orbit the earth, also will give the Institution's National Air Museum the tiny American flag he carried on his mission.

His spacecraft, Friendship 7, on display at the Smithsonian since December, will be formally accepted at the ceremonies.

Seven of the nine fastest miles in thoroughbred racing history have been run in June.

Arraignment Set For 6 On Bogus Money Charges

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Youngstown attorney and five others will be arraigned Thursday on charges of possessing and passing counterfeit bills.

Named in federal grand jury indictments Friday were attorney Vincent P. Serman, 37; Lenine Strollo, 31, of Campbell; Nick Zappia, 48; Robert Armstrong, 19, of Youngstown; John P. Paladinich, 21, of Austintown, and Joseph Paladinich, 27, of Youngstown.

The Paladinichs are brothers and Armstrong is the son of a Youngstown policeman.

The six-count indictment accuses Serman, Strollo, Armstrong and John Paladinich with conspiring to sell or pass counterfeit $10 bills. Strollo, Serman and Paladinich also were charged with possessing a bogus $10 bill on Jan. 2, and with attempting to pass it at a Warren shopping center store.

Joseph Paladinich was accused in a separate indictment with passing a counterfeit $10 bill.

Four of those charged were arrested Monday night in Youngstown by treasury agents and police, who said they had worked together on the case since last month.

All were freed under bond but Zappia, who was held in lieu of $25,000 bond.

He'll Be Sure Train Has Diner Attached

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The next time Dr. John N. Sims takes a trip he'll make sure the train has a diner attached.

Sims, a faculty member of the Baptist Seminary School of Music, was returning with a friend from a concert at Mississippi College.

They boarded a train with one passenger coach up front but with no facilities for food. A stop was made at Paris, Tenn., and Sims sprinted for a snack bar 50 yards away.

The train pulled out and Sims, clutching a bag of sandwiches, made a desperate leap and landed on a flat car five lengths back. Then followed a hair-raising effort to make his way forward while the train picked up speed.

Hanging to the rods hobo style, he finally reached the coach, the bag of sandwiches gripped between his teeth.

FBI Cracks Car Theft Ring; Ohio Involved

LITTLE ROCK, ARK. (AP) — FBI agents say they have uncovered a car theft ring which stole most of the automobiles in the Akron, Ohio, area and fixed them up in Georgia for resale in Arkansas and Louisiana.

A used car salesman became suspicious after buying one of the cars, agents said. An investigation led to the arrest—on conspiracy and interstate transportation of stolen property warrants—of Joseph Francis Newman, Foster Imhoff and Darius Woody of Akron; William Charles Palmer of Tallmadge, Ohio, and Winfred Lee Angel, Roy Edward Paulson and D. L. Mooney of Hot Spring, Ark., agents said.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Bill K. Slanaker. God filled our home with hope and joy, when He gave us you our brown eyed baby boy. We never shall forget that day—we named William Keith, but called you Billy K. You made our home a happy place, and we wished that you could stay, but why God chose to call you home, we'll understand some day. We still have sweet memories of you, and that helps keep our sky more blue, but life has not been the same in any way, since you left this world four years ago today. — Sadly missed by father and mother, sister Bessie and brother Jim.

QUESTION: What were the first compasses like?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: An ancient legend of Asia Minor tells of the discovery by a shepherd that a kind of dark stone clung to the iron end of his staff as if by magic (1). Later it was discovered that when such a stone was suspended by a string it would point north and south. Called "leadstone" because it could lead one in a certain direction (2), this name was changed to "loadstone." When a piece of loadstone was tied to cork and floated in a bowl of water, it became the first compass, since one end would point north. We show a Chinese junk because the first use of the compass is recorded in China in 1100 A. D., but it was used in Arabia by 1220, in Scandinavia by 1250 and in Western Europe by 1187. It is not known which of these countries used the compass first. Soon it was found that a needle or piece of metal touched by a loadstone would become magnetized and act in the same way, and so metal needles began to be used. There is such a metal magnet underneath the card of the modern compass (3). The magnet points north because it is attracted by the North Magnetic Pole, center of earth's north-pulling magnetism.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Learn how to "box the compass," that is, to name each division of "point" on the rim of the compass card as we show it. We name all the points between north and east (N means north, E east, so NNE means north north east). Now see if you can name points on the rest of the card.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I mix a non-poisonous powder that will destroy cockroaches, waterbugs, and similar pests around my house?

A. Mix thoroughly 9 ounces of borax, 2½ ounches of cornstarch, 2 ounces of plaster of paris, and 1½ ounces of cocoa. Sprinkle this powder around these pests' haunts freely, and it is a good idea to continue its use for several days after the bugs have disappeared to insure permanency.

Q. How can I make varnish dry faster?

A. Fill a shallow vessel with hot water and place the can of varnish in this while working. It will make your varnish flow easier, and it will also dry in a shorter time.

Q. How can I give a faint, lasting scent of violets to my hankies?

A. Brake up ¼-ounce of orris root into a muslin bag and put this into the boiler for a short time when boiling your hankies.

Q. What is an easy way to strain the lumps and other sediment out of a can of paint?

A. Cut a piece of screening into a circle of the same diameter as the paint can. Then stir your paint well and set the screen circle on its surface. The screen will settle to the bottom of the can, pushing the lumps down with it.

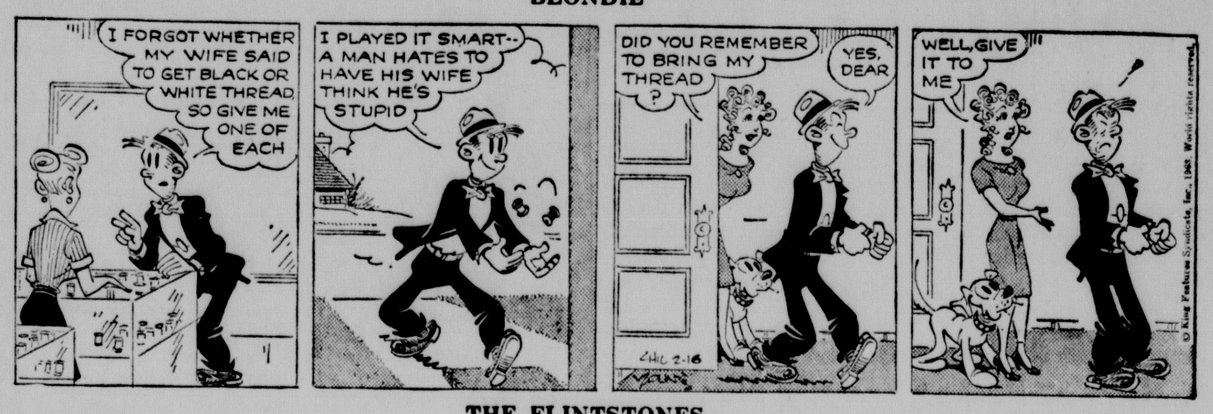

Q. How can I remove yellow stains from the bathtub or sink?

A. Make a thin paste of three parts cream of tartar and one part hydrogen peroxide. Spread on the discolored areas and, after it has dried, wipe it off with a wet cloth. This will not injure the porcelain.

Q. How can I make a good duster to use for plush and mohair upholstery?

A. A chamois wrung out of cold water is very good.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Walking Could Put Us Back On Our Feet

When it comes to physical fitness, walking is the best exercise ever. Regular walking could put us back on our feet with vigor.

Ida Jean Kain

Of course, the stint of walking 50 miles in three days and winding up with a 200 yard dash to the finish line is strictly for the Marines. While it's great for the leather-necks who are in superb physical condition, it could very well "do in" our flabby citizens. There's little danger however, for none but the hardy will tackle it.

In smaller doses, walking is just what Americans need. If, by some miracle, walking should become the All-American pastime, and we take to the great outdoors early mornings and week-ends, we'll be fit, not fat, and get back our vigor in record time.

IN EUROPE, whole families get out and walk together, or bicycle. Significantly, there is no problem of overweight among children in the countries where exercise is a built-in factor of life. American children are actually under-privileged on exercise, and many youngsters have a muscular deficiency.

Our number one nutrition problem is "creeping overweight." We're behind the "over-ate" ball because of under-exercise. Nature never intended for us to just sit. Now that we are a nation on wheels, we expend so little energy that we cannot eat enough food to satisfy our appetites, not without bulging consequences.

There is a commonly accepted notion that exercise increases appetite. Here I think we confuse better appetite with bigger appetite. Dr. Jean Mayer of Harvard has made this very clear. In fact this scientist finds that sedentary persons often have greater appetites than active persons.

On the weight score, fat creeps up on most of us by a comparatively few extra calories a day. Walking can put a stop to that. A walk of just one mile a day can fend off as much as 8 to 10 pounds which might otherwise pile on in a single year. In walking one mile you burn 80 to 100 calories, depending on your weight.

A man weighing 150 pounds spends 100 calories in walking a mile. For him, a daily mile walk would add up to 36,500 calories in a year — a little over 10 pounds. There are 3,500 calories in a pound of body fat.

THE PRESCRIPTION for walking which your doctor would doubtless recommend would be to walk at your own pace and build up distance gradually. Walking rate should be suited to the individual's capacity, so that no too great a demand is placed on the circulation.

The calorie cost of walking a mile is not too different whether you walk it in 15 minutes or 30 minutes.

However the effect on the circulation is quite different.

Founder Observances Held At Meeting Of Hillcrest PTA

A past president's pin was presented Mrs. Loretta Hawksworth during a "Founder's Day" program of the Hillcrest-Fairview Parent-Teacher Association Thursday night at the school near Wellsville.

She served last year and was given the pin by Mrs. Kathy Riddle. Co-chairmen of the program were Mrs. Riddle and Mrs. Dorothy Payne.

Students read poems about the teachers, and presented valentine favors to the faculty. Mrs. Francis Jack spoke on experiences in her early career as a teacher, which began in a one-room schoolhouse. Mrs. Fanchon Chronister cited the importance of teachers and parents in child guidance during brief remarks.

Fr. Gerald Curran of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church was principal speaker, emphasizing the need for a smooth relationship between parents and teachers and discussing why youngsters are required to attend school.

Wilmer Ralston, president, conducted business. Plans were made to present a three-act comedy, "Darling Rascals." Rehearsals will begin Friday at the school and anyone desiring to aid besides act is to attend. Date for the play will be announced.

The attendance banner was awarded the second grade of Mrs. Arthur Culp. Lunch was served by the third grade homeroom mothers. Boys of the sixth grade held a bake sale to buy pencils for a foreign school.

Harriman Slated For New Post In 'Shakeup' Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of State W. Averell Harriman is expected to get a new top-level job at the State Department under shakeup plans now being considered by President Kennedy.

Harriman, a former ambassador to Russia and Britain, would take over the No. 3 spot at State—undersecretary for political affairs. This post is now held by George C. McGhee, who has asked Kennedy for a foreign assignment and is expected to get one.

There have been persistent reports in the past several weeks that the President is dissatisfied with the operation of the department. Replacement of McGhee by Harriman may be the first of a number of changes.

Kennedy, it is understood, would like to tighten up the department's operations to get faster results on foreign affairs issues as they arise. One move under study is the possible creation of a new undersecretary position to expedite work within the department.

Motor vehicle sales tax collection also were up for the fiscal period — $349,767 against $296,704, with the week ending Feb. 10 totaling $7,750. The comparable week's total was not available.

Harriman Slated For New Post In 'Shakeup' Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of State W. Averell Harriman is expected to get a new top-level job at the State Department under shakeup plans now being considered by President Kennedy.

Harriman, a former ambassador to Russia and Britain, would take over the No. 3 spot at State—undersecretary for political affairs. This post is now held by George C. McGhee, who has asked Kennedy for a foreign assignment and is expected to get one.

There have been persistent reports in the past several weeks that the President is dissatisfied with the operation of the department. Replacement of McGhee by Harriman may be the first of a number of changes.

Kennedy, it is understood, would like to tighten up the department's operations to get faster results on foreign affairs issues as they arise. One move under study is the possible creation of a new undersecretary position to expedite work within the department.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Walking Could Put Us Back On Our Feet

When it comes to physical fitness, walking is the best exercise ever. Regular walking could put us back on our feet with vigor.

Ida Jean Kain

Of course, the stint of walking 50 miles in three days and winding up with a 200 yard dash to the finish line is strictly for the Marines. While it's great for the leathernecks who are in superb physical condition, it could very well "do in" our flabby citizens. There's little danger however, for none but the hardy will tackle it.

In smaller doses, walking is just what Americans need. If, by some miracle, walking should become the All-American pastime, and we take to the great outdoors early mornings and week-ends, we'll be fit, not fat, and get back our vigor in record time.

IN EUROPE, whole families get out and walk together, or bicycle. Significantly, there is no problem of overweight among children in the countries where exercise is a built-in factor of life. American children are actually under-privileged on exercise, and many youngsters have a muscular deficiency.

Our number one nutrition problem is "creeping overweight." We're behind the "over-ate" ball because of under-exercise. Nature never intended for us to just sit. Now that we are a nation on wheels, we expend so little energy that we cannot eat enough food to satisfy our appetites, not without bulging consequences.

There is a commonly accepted notion that exercise increases appetite. Here I think we confuse better appetite with bigger appetite. Dr. Jean Mayer of Harvard has made this very clear. In fact this scientist finds that sedentary persons often have greater appetites than active persons.

On the weight score, fat creeps up on most of us by a comparatively few extra calories a day. Walking can put a stop to that. A walk of just one mile a day can fend off as much as 8 to 10 pounds which might otherwise pile on in a single year. In walking one mile you burn 80 to 100 calories, depending on your weight.

A man weighing 150 pounds spends 100 calories in walking a mile. For him, a daily mile walk would add up to 36,500 calories in a year — a little over 10 pounds. There are 3,500 calories in a pound of body fat.

—:—

THE PRESCRIPTION for walking which your doctor would doubtless recommend would be to walk at your own pace and build up distance gradually. Walking rate should be suited to the individual's capacity, so that no too great a demand is placed on the circulation.

The calorie cost of walking a mile is not too different whether you walk it in 15 minutes or 30 minutes.

However the effect on the circulation is quite different.

America's Most Disappointed Father

"ALL RIGHT, men, surround the house and keep a close watch."

The company of New Jersey militia encircled the governor's mansion at Amboy while a group of officers entered. "By authority of the state assembly, we place you under house arrest!" they informed the royal governor, William Franklin.

His arrest highlighted the strange situation in which the American Revolution forever alienated a famous father from his infamous son. The father, Benjamin Franklin, risked his all to support America's desire for freedom; the son, William, worked in behalf of the British. In fact, on the very day in June, 1776, that the son was arrested for Red Coat activities, the father was in Philadelphia helping write the Declaration of Independence.

Later, Dr. Franklin had still deeper dregs of disappointment to drink. His son was branded "an enemy to the liberties of this country" and imprisoned. But even from jail, William Franklin managed to send letters "fomenting discord" until he was exchanged for an American officer and returned to England, never again to see the land of his birth.

In earlier days, the Franklins had enjoyed the warmth of an ideal father-son relationship. Benjamin was a tender father to the baby boy presented him in Philadelphia in 1731. He saw to it that young Billy had not only plenty of books to stretch his mind but a pony to exercise his body.

Franklin and his wife, Deborah Read, had two other children, daughter Sarah and a son, Francis, who died at four. William was left to carry on the Franklin line.

When Franklin went to England in 1757 to argue some tax matters, he took his son along. "Those English years were indeed a boomerang to the elder Franklin," observes one historian. "William's years in the mother country were eventually to weigh the balance in favor of England." Franklin entered his son at Middle Temple, and William was summoned to the British bar in 1758. During the next four years, while the father was kept busy as colonial agent, the son practiced law in London. He made a favorable impression on some of the king's advisers, and by the time Benjamin was ready to return to Philadelphia, his son had received official recognition. He was named royal governor of New Jersey.

When trouble between the colonies and Britain mounted, the elder Franklin suddenly was removed as postmaster general. He appealed to William to resign his royal appointment, too, but the governor refused. In fact, the younger Franklin actively tried to undermine the efforts of freedom-minded colonists by intercepting their letters and passing them along to friends of his in Britain as "rebel" documents.

Benjamin visited New Jersey to urge his son to resign the Crown position, but his efforts proved to be in vain. "I have lost my son," he said.

The two men had no contact all during the long War for Independence. Afterward, the son found himself not an entirely welcome ornament to English society, while the father was busily advancing American interests in France.

There were warmth and love between Benjamin Franklin and his son—until war made one a patriot, one a Tory

By JERRY KLEIN

ILLUSTRATION BY RICHARD HERDEGEN

BUT FRANKLIN never did invite William to visit him in Paris. A full year passed before the obviously wounded father found it "convenient" to see his son once more, and only because he would be stopping in England en route home, a sickly man of 79 now.

A historian says the final meeting of the Franklins, after almost a decade of separation, proved "coolly civil . . . it is doubtful if deep in his heart, Benjamin could ever forgive and bridge the gap now between them." In 1788, the patriot drew up his will, and within two years he died.

The will cancelled William's indebtedness to his father and left him some land in Nova Scotia. But Benjamin Franklin had made the matter clear: "The part he acted against me in the late war, which is of public notoriety, will account for my leaving him no more of an estate he endeavoured to deprive me of."

The heart of America followed the father sorrowfully to his grave. The son died in London 23 years later, reviled by many, forgotten by most.

Spring Wardrobe

By ROSALYN ABREVAYA

WORLD TRAVEL, rehearsals, and mothering two adorable children quicken the tempo of actress Carroll Baker's life. And master designer Oleg Cassini has created a wardrobe to match it—available in patterns exclusively to FAMILY WEEKLY readers.

Bold pastels in du Pont fabrics set the active rhythm of these clothes. The styles, which hit a casual note, then take to gay flights of fancy with bows or ruffles, are designed to wear from brunch through the evening hours or to serve as a basic vacation wardrobe.

Miss Baker, the wife of director Jack Garfein and currently starring in "How the West Was Won," models these bright new spring creations in her New York apartment.

SLACKS AND BLOUSE, Pattern A666

THREE-PIECE SUIT: At the entrance to her apartment, Miss Baker wears a perfect travel or luncheon ensemble. Dacron coin-print blouse and rayon-silk suit are by Cohama Fabrics.

DRESS AND SCARF: To look dashing under night lights, Carroll puts on a saucy creation whose ruffled scarf offers endless variety. The fabric is Dacron by Benrose Fabrics.

SIDE-BUTTON DRESS: For window-shopping or striking it casual, Carroll selects this easy-to-slip-into turquoise dress. Fabric is a Dacron and cotton blend by Cohama Fabrics.

SHEATH DRESS: The brilliant coin-dot print makes its second appearance in a dress color-coordinated to wear with the suit jacket and to sparkle on its own lithe lines, too.

SLACKS AND BLOUSE: For brunch, Carroll wears a bright Acele acetate top by Mode Fabrics, fitted Dacron-cotton pants by Crompton-Richmond, and Capezio shoes—all on our cover.

ALL-OCCASION DRESS: For a dinner party or any festivity, Carroll wears a dazzling white Dacron two-piecer that can be dressed up or down. The textured fabric is by Sew Best.

LET ALBUQUERQUE'S LAND BOOM MAKE MONEY FOR YOU!

If you had invested $1,000 in choice land at Albuquerque, New Mexico, 20 years ago, before the city's fantastic 400% population increase, your land today would be worth at least $20,000 to $30,000—with the end nowhere in sight. With 274,000 people living here today, and booming Albuquerque expected to add more people in the next nine years than in all its previous history ... land prices, which have been doubling and redoubling every few years, are now starting to skyrocket!

At this very moment you still have a chance to get in on the amazing profit potential of choice property at this booming Southwest resort paradise for as little as $1 down, $10 a month. A chance for you to own a rambling ranch-type estate in a scenic Western setting along the banks of the romantic Rio Grande River, where many friendly families are now building homes...an area so attractive, so desirable, and growing so rapidly that land today is bringing as much as $4,500 or more an acre right up to our property lines!

NOW COMES YOUR CHANCE TO BUY
LAND AT A FRACTION OF CURRENT PRICES!

HOW TO BE REALLY RELAXED

Beset by anxiety, we have forgotten how to rest our bodies even in sleep, but here is a unique two-week program by which you can achieve "zero tension" and better health

By CURTIS MITCHELL
President of the Association for Control of Tension

TODAY WE LIVE in a fearful world, and fear is the father of tension. Our senses are prodded by stimulating sights, sounds, and the dilemmas of family, social, and business life.

Our children compete to get into a good college. Husbands compete in jobs and professions. Wives compete with the problems of child-rearing, schooling, and homemaking.

Small wonder that we are reaping a calamitous harvest with half our hospital beds filled with mental patients, and with half of our people seeking medical treatment for ailments brought on, or made worse, by too much worry and anxiety.

But this tension-ridden way of life need not harm us if we take steps to save ourselves. An antidote exists, based on scientific data. By using it, we can stay this onslaught against our nerves. Its name is Progressive Relaxation.

In the past two years, the practice of Progressive Relaxation has zoomed from a respected but little-practiced method of repairing one's emotional or physical state to a lusty movement taught in a dozen U.S. colleges and YMCAs.

And with reason. Not long ago, a famous pianist stumbled into a Chicago doctor's office and slumped into a chair. "Can you help me relax?" he begged, holding up shaking hands. "In two days, I must give an important concert, but I'm too jittery to play. Aren't there drugs for this?"

The physician took the musician into a small room. "I'll give you something better," he said. "I'll show you how to relax yourself, any time, anywhere. And once you've learned, you'll never need help again."

Two days later, the musician played his concert—relaxed and confident, and one critic wrote: "He never performed more brilliantly."

A MIDDLE-AGED WOMAN lost her husband, saw her child go to a mental hospital, and found herself almost penniless. Her worries brought fatigue and thoughts of suicide. A friend introduced her to Progressive Relaxation. Presently, her spirits returned to normal, she completed a course at a secretarial school and got a full-time job. She was completely rehabilitated.

What is this wonder? Where does it come from? It is a self-operated method which enables a person to relax his tense muscles, thereby turning off impulses which tension-stimulated nerves transmit constantly to the brain. The relief is akin to that obtained when one turns off a bright light that hurts the eye. Its discoverer is a courtly, 74-year-old physician, Dr. Edmund Jacobson of Chicago.

Dr. Jacobson's lonely crusade to teach us to relax began a few years after he became a physician in 1915. He made his first experiments with muscles and nerves at Harvard in 1910, and found that tense muscles transmit messages along their nerve fibers, whereas relaxed muscles transmit nothing whatever. To prove it, he taught himself to relax and fired electric shocks into his own hands. In the relaxed state, true to his reasoning, he could not feel the shock.

He believed that modern man is constantly tense to some degree, whereas, to be healthy, he must have periods of relaxation. To further his research, Dr. Jacobson asked the Bell Telephone Laboratories to help invent an instrument that would determine the amount of electrical current in each human muscle. This project has cost him almost $1 million to date but his laboratory is now equipped with neurovoltmeters that can measure current to one-millionth of a volt.

What his first instrument revealed was startling. Each person he tested was a victim of tension. More often than not, even a night of sleep failed to relieve it. Here was waste, a serious leakage of energy. Could this explain why some persons became fatigued without apparent cause or why arteries harden, ulcers form, or hearts stop? Dr. Jacobson trained himself to relax more and more, measuring his progress toward "zero tension" electrically. To test his methods, he also trained some of his students.

Two unanticipated events years later brought Progressive Relaxation from laboratory to practical application. A wealthy Chicago industrialist, Oscar G. Mayer, suffered two severe heart attacks. Using relaxation as therapy, Dr. Jacobson treated Mayer with such success that he was restored to health and vigor. He became a tireless disciple and a forceful spokesman.

The other event was the renewed interest of physiologist Arthur H. Steinhaus, who had been one of the students trained in the technique 30 years earlier. Now dean of George Williams College in Chicago, he added his prestige to a revolutionary idea.

Why not encourage laymen to teach relaxation to the general public? he asked. Why not use relaxation to prevent the onset of disease? Already, 30,000 teachers of physical education possessed a trained knowledge of physiology and neurology. If they were mobilized in Progressive Relaxation, the benefit would be incalculable.

SO GEORGE WILLIAMS COLLEGE under Dean Steinhaus became the center of a vastly important experiment. Its purpose: to learn whether trained laymen could teach relaxing. Money to start the project was supplied by the Foundation for Scientific Relaxation, a nonprofit organization founded by a grateful Oscar Mayer.

Today, nearly 100 laymen have been certified as teachers by George Williams College. Many of them are turning in astonishing reports.

A teacher at the University of North Carolina scheduled three relaxing classes, wondering if she would have enough students to fill them. Popular demand forced her to add an extra course, which she is giving without credit, yet it has an almost perfect attendance record. From such classes everywhere in the country, reports tell of housewives and businessmen discovering tensions within themselves—and how to cope with them.

This FAMILY WEEKLY self-help course in Progressive Relaxation is a condensation of the George Williams College Course, specially adapted for home use. Proficiency comes only with a good many hours of practice, but practice regularly and you will be richly rewarded.

Next Week: Differential Relaxation

In addition to completing your two-week course in the fundamentals of relaxation, next week you will learn how to relax while cooking, driving, making a speech, or whatever else you undertake. This method enables you to reduce tensions in muscles required for the job you must do and to eliminate tension in muscles not needed. Dr. Jacobson calls it Differential Relaxation.

In this exclusive Family Weekly interview, our first orbiting astronaut tells what has happened to him and his family since he became America's No. 1 hero appeared at more scientific and engineering meetings. We are few, and we have had a unique experience. It is part of our responsibility to share what we have learned with the people who made it possible—but time simply couldn't be found, and in that area we have real regrets."

But John Glenn has found time—his nights, weekends, holidays—to reply to the 100,000 persons who wrote him after the flight and those who still mail him 300-500 letters a week. (He also received 800 personal gifts, from carvings of his space capsule to religious mementos; they are being held for future exhibits in museums.)

"That mail," John Glenn says, "was something we were totally unprepared for. Steve Grillo (NASA director of administrative services) helped me set up a system by which I could personally reply to any letter requiring a reply."

That "personal reply" is not a figure of speech. If you have a letter signed by John Glenn, it is authentic. He has refused suggestions he use a duplicating device, and he insists any letter stating his ideas or feelings be dictated by him, not a public-relations man. His secretary says he has taken home up to 1,200 letters a night to sign. Why?

"Other than the flight itself," Glenn replies, "the response of young people to our program has been the most gratifying thing of the past year. Read their letters, and you'll see they have been inspired to set new goals in school and in life. It's a side benefit of the program we never expected, and it won't be right to do anything that wouldn't show our appreciation."

Glenn's private dedication is obviously toward American youth. When the Boy Scouts asked him to spark a recruitment drive, he replied: "I'll do anything for the Boy Scouts." After a full day's work last summer, he spent more than four evening hours taping radio and television announcements for the Scouts. In three subsequent months, 840,000 boys joined the John Glenn "Go" Roundup, about 20 percent more than in the previous year's drive.

The Glenn family has had less happy occasions this past year. When NASA moved the space center from Langley Field, Va., to Houston, they were forced to leave a home in Arlington, where they had deep roots. A serviceman's family must move frequently, but Glenn says:

"You never get used to leaving friends and neighbors. We were part of Arlington (he was Scout adviser, son David and daughter Lyn participated in Scout programs and school activities, and Mrs. Glenn was an active PTA member and den mother), and we hated to leave."

HOUSTON is still a new experience to the Glenns—as are the astronauts to Houston. In Arlington the family was taken for granted; now they faced the prospect of being "somebody special."

The astronauts solved the problem by building homes (estimated price around $35,000, though some say higher) in a small, rather sophisticated suburb where privacy was more assured. They are each others' neighbors. Scott Carpenter is Glenn's next-door neighbor. Gus Grissom and Wally Schirra built adjoining homes one block away. Gordon Cooper lives one mile from Glenn, and Deke Slayton is building in the same area. Only Alan Shepard lives in a Houston apartment.

The Glenns spent much of the fall just settling in their new home. Only recently have they had a chance to pick up the activities which made them familiar and "ordinary" in Arlington. The exception is John Glenn. "I haven't had enough time at home to get into things, but I believe I will. We sort of made it a rule—the Glenns aren't going to be different than before. I think we've been reasonably successful the past year, and it's still the rule."

Before their move to Houston, Tex., the Glenns—John (left), son David, daughter Lyn, and Mrs. Glenn—were given a farewell party by Arlington, Va., friends and neighbors.

"What Do You Mean—Only ONE True Church?"

Non-Catholics often resent the claim that the Catholic Church alone is the true Church of Christ.

"You Catholics," some of them say, "have a lot of nerve. The Church is universal. Anybody can belong to it who accepts Christ as his personal Savior and models his life after Christ's teaching. We can be members of the true Church without being Catholics."

Many who feel this way about it are, of course, sincere and devout people. And it is not our intention to challenge the various shades of Christian thought which they represent. We do ask them, however, to understand that the Catholic claim is not a matter of arrogance or intolerance—but of the deepest religious conviction.

Nearly all Christians agree that there can be only one true Church. Yet there are hundreds of different denominations—some of them miles apart in what they teach—all claiming to be the true Church. Certainly all of them cannot be right . . . in fact, only ONE can.

But which one? How can we identify it?

The Son of God made Himself recognizable to men by coming upon the earth with a body and soul like ours. It was in His physical body that He died for our redemption. Having thus so carefully revealed Himself to the people of His own time, would He not make equally sure that future generations should also know Him?

Catholics believe that the Savior did so, through the Church . . . in which He is "able at all times to save those who came to God through Him." The Church is, therefore, not merely a body of people believing in Christ . . . but the body appointed by Christ Himself to continue His mission of redemption.

"He who hears you," the Savior said, "hears Me." For Catholics, this means that when the Church speaks it is Christ speaking. When the Church offers prayer and sacrifice and forgiveness of sins, it is Christ's prayer and sacrifice and forgiveness of sins. The Church, as Catholics see it, is Christ living in the world today!

Must the Church be an organized system? Is the Church invisible? Is it composed of saints and sinners? Can we reject the Church without rejecting Christ? Must I belong to the Catholic Church to be saved? The answer to these and many other important questions is available in a pamphlet which we will send you immediately without cost or obligation. You can read it in the privacy of your home and nobody will call on you. Write today for Pamphlet FM-16.

Instructions for Practice Sessions

FIRST WEEK—EVERY DAY: You start each session in the basic position shown here. Rest your feet on the floor about six inches apart, on heels or flat. Rest forearms on the chair arms and drop your head forward. Gradually close your eyes and keep them closed except when you are reading these instructions. If the back of your neck begins to hurt after a time, raise your head a few minutes for relief.

Your assignment each day is to contract certain muscles in order to learn where to look for tensions, then to practice letting them go. This is continued until all major groups of muscles have been included, and you may scan your body mentally for trouble spots.

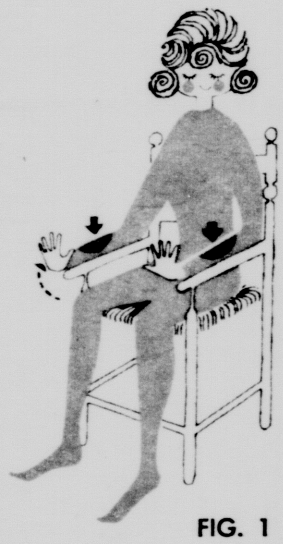

Practice always starts with five minutes of rest. Think of your body with its many muscular activities as an automobile speeding along at 60 miles per hour. You want to stop the car, but you have no brakes. So you turn off the ignition and coast until the car stops. In the same way, you can turn off your personal ignition by sitting down to relax, but your body also must coast to a stop. In most persons, even after training in relaxation, this takes from 15 to 20 minutes. Though you seem to remain tense and restless, you are learning. Many slow learners become expert at relaxing.

BASIC STARTING POSITION

You need at least 45 minutes of uninterrupted practice for a relaxing period. Do not watch the clock, but set an alarm or use a kitchen timer. Don't answer the phone or doorbell. Lock other members of your family out of your relaxing room.

These instructions will tell you to relax, to go negative, and to go to zero. They all mean, "Let yourself go." This may be difficult at first, but don't worry. Continue to practice, and you will be rewarded. Learning any skill takes time; very tense people may need as much drill as in learning to type or to swim. Don't be discouraged. Remember that you are studying a hard, condensed course and gaining a lifetime skill. With practice, you discover unsuspected tensions, some of which you may have harbored for years. And you may get rid of them with ease if you don't give up too soon.

1st DAY: Place this page of instructions on a chair or table before you. Assume the basic position, closing your eyes except when you must read. In general, you are going to be directed to contract a muscle, to note the tension in the muscle produced by that contraction, to release or relax the muscle, and to note the difference. Then you will be instructed to continue in your wholly relaxed state for several minutes. It's as simple as that.

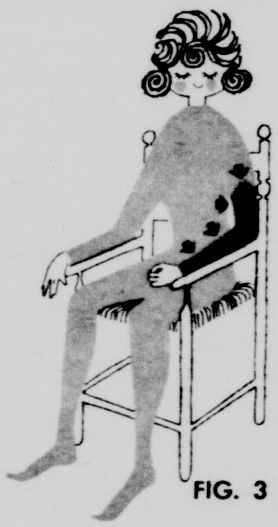

So assume the basic position now and rest quietly for five minutes, guessing at the time. Today we learn to locate tension in the forearm muscle groups. Bend up both hands (Fig. 1), fingers straight. Hold this position for about 30 seconds. Muscles in your forearms have contracted to bend up your hands. Where do you feel the effort? Where are the tense muscles? Some persons will indicate the wrist but this is discomfort from tendon stretch or strain, not from effort felt in the muscles themselves. The tenseness is in the upper, outer, and back part of the forearm where the muscles bulge. Can you feel it?

Now let the hands fall and dangle. Continue to relax for two or three minutes, then repeat the bending up movement of the hand. Hold it still. Feel the tension. Relax! Continue to relax for about 15 to 25 minutes.

Next, turn your arms onto their sides and bend the hands inward (Fig. 2). Note the feeling of tension centered now in the large muscles on the inner surface of both forearms. Relax the tension suddenly and let the hands hang. Did you feel the tension decrease or vanish?

After relaxing two or three minutes, again bend the hands inward, hold, and relax as completely as you can for another 15 to 25 minutes. Total time for both muscle groups: 45 to 60 minutes.

FIG. 3

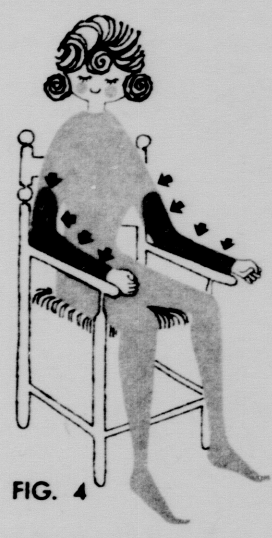

2nd DAY: Assume the basic position and relax for five minutes. Today we learn to observe tension in the lower and upper arm as a unit. We begin with the left arm. Without moving it, slowly tense the whole arm, curling your fingers into a hard fist. Continue until the arm is rigid as you can make it. Observe tension all through the arm (Fig. 3).

Now, gradually let muscles go limp until no tension is felt. Continue to relax the arm for about 15 to 25 minutes.

Next, repeat the tensions with both arms at the same time, squeezing the fists until all the muscles of your lower and upper arms are rock hard (Fig. 4). Notice the tensions in all contracting muscles of both arms.

Now slowly decrease this tension, gradually relaxing the effort that holds the muscles hard, permitting the entire arm to go negative.

Continue to relax both arms for 20 to 30 minutes. Total time: 45 to 60 minutes.

JOHN GLENN

One Year Later

JUST ONE YEAR AGO—Feb. 20, 1962—Lt. Col. John Glenn, USMC, thrilled the free world by orbiting earth in the Friendship 7 space capsule.

For the next two weeks, he was the most feted American hero since Charles Lindbergh crossed the Atlantic in solo flight 35 years before. On March 3, his home town of New Concord, Ohio, honored him, and the following Monday Glenn was back at work at Cape Canaveral, Fla. From then on, his professional and private life became obscured.

How has he managed to escape the demands and intrusions of a hero-worshipping public and to get on with his important work? What has fame meant to him and his family? What has he done in the past year, and what are his plans? In an exclusive interview before the anniversary of his flight, Glenn reviewed the past and looked into the future.

He is now a "weekend family man" and peripatetic engineer who logs thousands of miles a week consulting with prime contractors on our Gemini and Apollo space programs. Except for actual orbital flights, Glenn has devoted less and less time to the Mercury project which first put an American in space. Here is how Glenn outlined a typical week:

On Monday morning, he left his new Texas ranch-style home in Seabrook, about 20 miles from Houston, for morning and afternoon meetings with coordinating project engineers on Apollo. This is the space vehicle which is scheduled to land Americans on the moon by the end of the decade.

Glenn flew to Chicago for the night, then on to Columbus, Ohio, for two days with North American Aviation engineers who are developing a mock version of the docking system Apollo will use to rendezvous in space.

On Thursday and Friday, Glenn attended a series of meetings with engineers and policy makers of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He reported on developments at the manned spacecraft center in Houston and on progress observed among the prime contractors.

"I hope to get home at 8:30 Friday night," he added with heavy emphasis on hope. "Our schedule will change this year. I'll be spending more time in St. Louis, where McDonnell is building the Gemini (a two-man orbital vehicle), and in New York, where Grumman is producing the lunar excursion vehicle.

"I don't undergo the extensive medical checks that were regular before my flight—just a routine yearly physical. I still try to keep in good physical condition, but the exercises are hardly as intense."

Does that mean he doesn't expect to pilot future space flights? "We—all the astronauts—presume we will pilot Gemini and/or Apollo," he replies with a firmness that indicates his strongest desire.

WILL HE feel anything when the Mercury project ends soon? "Nostalgia, you mean?" he asks, grinning. "No. We're already caught up in future projects. If we wrap ourselves in the past, we never go forward. That's the direction of progress in any activity, and the one we feel most keenly about."

Glenn's greatest disappointment of the year relates to his biggest headache—demands on his time by civic, youth, and scientific groups. It also indicates why little has been heard of Glenn, on the personal level, in the past year.

"NASA expected and was prepared for the avalanche of demands for the banquet circuit and such," he says. "Ford Eastman (a program-development officer in Washington) spent entire days on the telephone patiently explaining why the space program must take priority on our time. Everybody's understanding was gratifying—yet as I look back I wish we could have

One Year Later

JUST ONE YEAR AGO—Feb. 20, 1962—Lt. Col. John Glenn, USMC, thrilled the free world by orbiting earth in the Friendship 7 space capsule.

For the next two weeks, he was the most feted American hero since Charles Lindbergh crossed the Atlantic in solo flight 35 years before. On March 3, his home town of New Concord, Ohio, honored him, and the following Monday Glenn was back at work at Cape Canaveral, Fla. From then on, his professional and private life became obscured.

How has he managed to escape the demands and intrusions of a hero-worshipping public and to get on with his important work? What has fame meant to him and his family? What has he done in the past year, and what are his plans? In an exclusive interview before the anniversary of his flight, Glenn reviewed the past and looked into the future.

He is now a "weekend family man" and peripatetic engineer who logs thousands of miles a week consulting with prime contractors on our Gemini and Apollo space programs. Except for actual orbital flights, Glenn has devoted less and less time to the Mercury project which first put an American in space. Here is how Glenn outlined a typical week:

On Monday morning, he left his new Texas ranch-style home in Seabrook, about 20 miles from Houston, for morning and afternoon meetings with coordinating project engineers on Apollo. This is the space vehicle which is scheduled to land Americans on the moon by the end of the decade.

Glenn flew to Chicago for the night, then on to Columbus, Ohio, for two days with North American Aviation engineers who are developing a mock version of the docking system Apollo will use to rendezvous in space.

On Thursday and Friday, Glenn attended a series of meetings with engineers and policy makers of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He reported on developments at the manned spacecraft center in Houston and on progress observed among the prime contractors.

"I hope to get home at 8:30 Friday night," he added with heavy emphasis on hope. "Our schedule will change this year. I'll be spending more time in St. Louis, where McDonnell is building the Gemini (a two-man orbital vehicle), and in New York, where Grumman is producing the lunar excursion vehicle.

"I don't undergo the extensive medical checks that were regular before my flight—just a routine yearly physical. I still try to keep in good physical condition, but the exercises are hardly as intense."

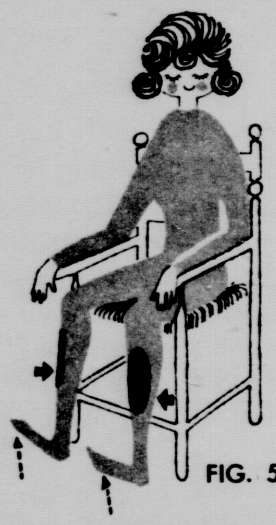

Does that mean he doesn't expect to pilot future space flights? "We—all the astronauts—presume we will pilot Gemini and/or Apollo," he replies with a firmness that indicates his strongest desire.

WILL HE feel anything when the Mercury project ends soon? "Nostalgia, you mean?" he asks, grinning. "No. We're already caught up in future projects. If we wrap ourselves in the past, we never go forward. That's the direction of progress in any activity, and the one we feel most keenly about."

Glenn's greatest disappointment of the year relates to his biggest headache—demands on his time by civic, youth, and scientific groups. It also indicates why little has been heard of Glenn, on the personal level, in the past year.

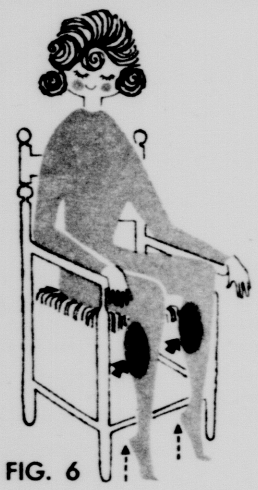

"NASA expected and was prepared for the avalanche of demands for the banquet circuit and such," he says. "Ford Eastman (a program-development officer in Washington) spent entire days on the telephone patiently explaining why the space program must take priority on our time. Everybody's understanding was gratifying—yet as I look back I wish we could have

3rd DAY: Today we learn to identify tension in both legs. Slowly bend both feet up at the ankles as far as you can (Fig. 5). Where is the tension now? Quickly relax and note the difference. Repeat the bending and locate the tension again. After holding it a few seconds, you should feel it along the shin. Quickly relax and continue to relax for about 15 to 25 minutes.

Next, check the tension in your calf muscles. Point your feet down by raising the heels off the floor (Fig. 6), leaving the toes touching. Now notice the tension in your calves. Quickly relax, dropping the heels. Raise the heels again until you feel the tension strongly in both calves. Quickly relax toward zero and continue for 20 to 25 minutes. Total time: 45 to 60 minutes.

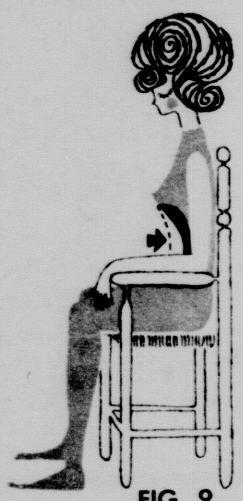

FIG. 7

4th DAY: Today we study tension in thigh muscles. Assume the basic position. Slowly extend both legs, lifting your feet from the floor as the legs straighten at the knee (Fig. 7). Hold your legs straight out for several seconds, and note the tension in the tops of both thighs. Quickly relax, allowing both feet to drop to the floor. Again straighten the legs as before and note tension in upper thigh muscles.

Quickly relax and remain at zero, eyes closed, for 15 to 25 minutes.

Next, we investigate tension in those large muscles that lie beneath the thigh bone. Bend both legs back at the knee, dragging both feet back toward your chair (Fig. 8). Hold the legs in that bent position for a minute or so and note the tension in muscles at the lower, back part of the thigh. Quickly relax and note the difference. Now bend the legs back hard again, locate the tension, and relax. Let your thigh muscles go negative; remain so for 20 to 25 minutes. Total time: 45 to 60 minutes.

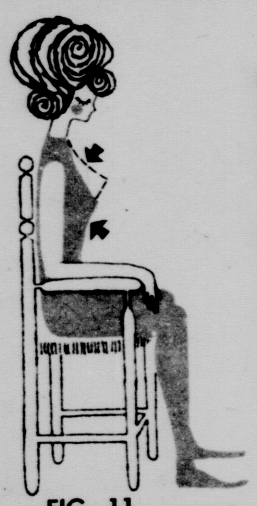

FIG. 9

5th DAY: Your torso and its muscles are the subject of today's study. After reading these instructions, take the basic position, close your eyes, and pull in your abdominal muscles. Pull in your stomach until it is hard and flat, noting the tension that spreads all over the abdominal wall (Fig. 9). Quickly relax and notice the difference. Now contract the same muscles but only slightly, just enough to note the beginning of tension over the abdomen.

Relax slowly this time, slowly, until you are entirely free of tension over the abdomen. Stay at zero for another 15 to 25 minutes.

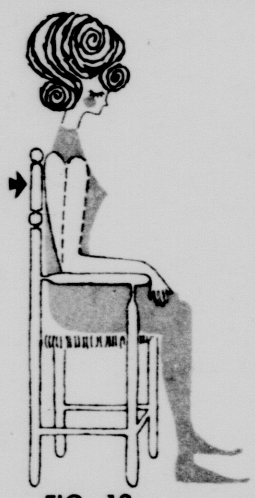

Next, arch your back. Arch it slowly but firmly until it reaches the extreme arched position (Fig. 10). Hold it until you feel tension in your back muscles. Quickly relax. Now simply imagine that you are arching your back, and see if you note a faint tension in the region of your spinal column. You may feel it quickly or it may take several days, for it is there even though you are only imagining it. After about 30 seconds, stop imagining that you are still arching the back, and relax, letting the back muscles go to zero. Remain relaxed for 20 to 25 minutes. Total time: 45 to 60 minutes.

FIG. 11

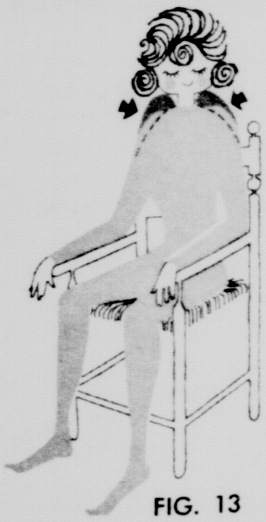

6th DAY: In this week's final session, you learn about tension in your breathing and shoulder muscles. Take a deep breath and hold it. Note where diffuse tensions are felt in the chest (Fig. 11). Then breathe out normally. Take another deep breath, again making a mental note of the location of tension, and exhale. Now, breathing normally, see if you can feel a trace of those tensions in your chest muscles. After a minute or so, discontinue this search and go to zero, breathing without effort for 10 to 15 minutes.

Next study tension in your shoulders by pulling both shoulder blades straight back until you feel the contraction along the spine between them

FIG. 12

(Fig. 12). Relax! Repeat the movement of pulling the shoulder blades together hard, hold, and relax. Repeat again, but this time use only enough contraction to provide a weak sensation of tension. Relax and go to zero for 10 to 15 minutes.

Lastly, slowly raise both shoulders as high as possible (Fig. 13). Note where you feel the tension and relax. The contraction was probably strongest over the tops of your shoulders. Now, without moving, slightly tighten the muscles that lift your shoulders, study the tensions you feel, and relax again. Let your muscles stay negative without any perceptible tension for 10 to 15 minutes. Total time: 45 to 60 minutes.

Let LEONARD BERNSTEIN open the door to the wonderful world of music for your family

An extraordinary new book with 5 long-playing 7″ records will bring the magic of his famous Young People's Concerts into your home

STARTING this fall you can give your children the gift of living with great music — of having their taste and understanding guided and nurtured by a great musician: Leonard Bernstein.

Leonard Bernstein's Young People's Concerts on television are among the phenomena of our age. Millions of us have wanted to relive them — to hear again the great music and the flashing insights that have transformed our old habit of "lazy listening" into a richly active adventure in the joy of music.

In permanent form at last

Now at last, the greatest of these celebrated concerts have been put in permanent form — to be relived, re-read, re-played, returned to over the years.

They will be published, in the fall of this year, in the form of a unique musical treasure chest: records and a book that together encompass the heart of this extraordinary musical education.

About the contents

THE BOOK, beautifully illustrated with over 50 color pictures and 100 musical examples and diagrams, contains Mr. Bernstein's incomparable commentaries, rewritten for reading.

THE FIVE LONG-PLAYING 7″ RECORDS are performed by major orchestras, chiefly the New York Philharmonic under Leonard Bernstein's direction and produced by Columbia Records. They enable you to listen, whenever you wish, to the great music (from Bach and Haydn to the modern American composers, Copland and Ives) that illustrate the major points made in the book.

Never before has such a magical open-sesame to musical understanding been made available to the family.

Mr. Bernstein's narrative is alive with his exuberant joy in music, his genius for making us understand. He ranges over the whole world of music.

He talks of Beethoven and of folk songs. He shows how Bach constructs a fugue, following "instructions" as precise as those that come with a child's Erector Set — then lets you hear an example, from the fourth Brandenburg Concerto, played by the Philharmonic.

He shows how a symphonic work develops — and grows — from its first note to its finale.

He explains orchestration with a score-it-yourself experiment for the young reader — and a Ravel recording to demonstrate the special effects of the various instruments.

He explains the techniques of composition that produce the shimmering "colors" of Debussy's La Mer — and plays it for you. He tells — and illustrates with records — what makes music classical, what makes it romantic, what makes it American, or French, or Italian; what makes it funny. And one of the special delights in store for you is the example he gives, on a record, from a great symphony that makes you laugh: Prokofieff's "Classical" Symphony.

He invites us to experiment with the "meaning of music" through a recording of Moussorgsky. He explains counterpoint in terms of "Three Blind Mice." He leads us closer to the grandeur of Beethoven and Brahms.

He opens innumerable doors to the world of music. Whoever reads the book and listens to the records — be it a child or a highly educated adult — becomes a citizen of that world.

Special Money-Saving Opportunity

The publishers are sparing no effort to make this musical treasure-chest as entrancing to look at as it is to read and hear. The 7″ vinyl LP recordings, the book with its color pictures and musical examples — all in a handsome case — will be a delight to own and give.

Step Right Up

My wife and I aren't showy, vain folk,
We're cautious people, safe-and-sane folk.
So when there's need around our house
To mount a ladder, my good spouse
And I, with care and well-planned scheme, work
Together in long-practiced teamwork.
To make quite certain nothing's wrong,
We check each step, make sure it's strong,
And level legs so they are steady.
At last, when everything is ready,
Since I know how, a skilled old-timer,
I hold the ladder—she's the climber.

The elderly widow was going to visit her son and daughter-in-law, and it was her first airplane flight. Throughout the trip she sat perched nervously on the edge of the seat. When her son greeted her at the airport, he asked how she enjoyed the trip.

"It was very nice," she said. Then in a confidential whisper, she added: "Of course, I never let all my weight down."

"I'm afraid this is good-bye, darling—tomorrow we're moving to the third floor."

Something Fishy

Fishy, fishy in the brook,
Daddy caught him with a hook.
Also with a line, I'll bet,
And rod and reel and lure and net—
Which added up in figures round
Makes him cost five bucks a pound.

With George Washington's birthday approaching, the first-grade teacher planned an appropriate history exercise. She started out with a question. "First, can anybody tell us who George Washington was?"

From the back of the room came a firm answer. "Sure, he was the first Kennedy."

Calculated Risk

The doctors all say that a great deal of wealth,
Plus too little to do, isn't good for the health;
It's much worse than smoking or improper diet,
Which well may be true—but I'd sure love to try it!

The elderly widow was going to visit her son and daughter-in-law, and it was her first airplane flight. Throughout the trip she sat perched nervously on the edge of the seat. When her son greeted her at the airport, he asked how she enjoyed the trip.

"It was very nice," she said. Then in a confidential whisper, she added: "Of course, I never let all my weight down."

Something Fishy

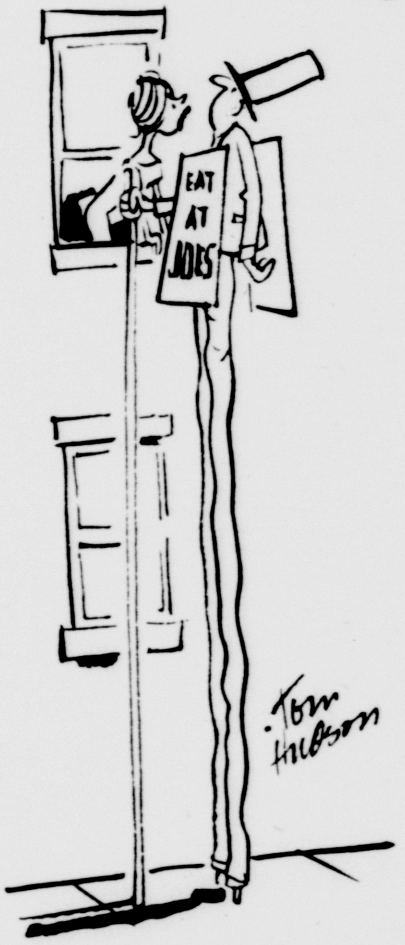

Fishy, fishy in the brook,
Daddy caught him with a hook.
Also with a line, I'll bet,
And rod and reel and lure and net—
Which added up in figures round
Makes him cost five bucks a pound.

—Suzanne Douglass

With George Washington's birthday approaching, the first-grade teacher planned an appropriate history exercise. She started out with a question. "First, can anybody tell us who George Washington was?"

From the back of the room came a firm answer. "Sure, he was the first Kennedy."

—Sarah Jennings

"I'm afraid this is good-bye, darling—tomorrow we're moving to the third floor."

Calculated Risk

The doctors all say that a great deal of wealth,
Plus too little to do, isn't good for the health;
It's much worse than smoking or improper diet,
Which well may be true—but I'd sure love to try it!

George Washington

By Ragna Eskil

We have all heard the story of how when George Washington was a little boy, he chopped down a cherry tree with his axe, and when his father said, "Who did it?" he answered, "I cannot tell a lie, sir. I did it." While some history writers say this story may not be true, we all like to believe it.

When Washington was only 19, he was made a captain in the French and Indian War. When the Revolutionary War broke out, he was chosen commander-in-chief.

One of the famous stories of that war is the crossing of the Delaware River. It was Christmas Eve, and a great sleet storm was raging. The Hessian soldiers, whom England had hired to fight against the colonists, were having a party in Trenton, N. J. Washington's soldiers were camped across the Delaware. They had hardly any food and their shoes were in rags. The river was full of ice, but Washington managed to get all his men across and chased the surprised Hessians out of their camp. This victory marked a turning point in the war.

After the war, Washington became the first President of the United States. It is no wonder that we call him the Father of His Country.

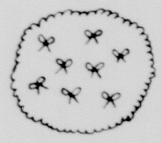

Quicksand

By Betty Kahn

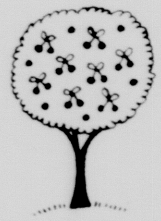

Draw a circle with chalk. Players hold hands and form a circle outside the chalked circle. At the word, "Go!" each player tries to force others over the chalked circle into the "quicksand." He also tries to keep from going over himself. A player forced into the quicksand is out of the game. It gets quite exciting when the last two tug and pull!

Raise the Finger Game

By Bea Kiles

This is a game for younger boys and girls to play. Each player places a finger on the table. The leader may say the subject is "birds fly" and then go on to say "robins fly," and as he says so, all lift their fingers. Then he may say, "cows fly." If any one raises his finger then, he's out. (Or, the subject may be "animals walk" or anything else that the group wishes.) The game continues until one or two players are left or until the group grows tired of it.

Catch Question for a King

By Lynn Ames

First, send several players out of the room. Let one player sit on a chair and act as king. Bring in the other players, one at a time, to kneel before the king. The king then says to each one, "Say whom you love the best." The kneelers will probably give the "wrong" answer again and again until one of them realizes he should simply repeat, "Whom you love the best," as he was asked to do! The first person saying this wins the game and gets a prize.
